Big Increases in Valuations Cited in Final School Report

The Assessed Valuation sub-committee offers probable future assessed valuations and tax rates for every suggested form of school district organization in the Acalanes area.

But it in effect recommends a certain type of "vertical" organization, sometimes called "Plan C".

Proponents of the various vertical plans (grouping high schools with their neighboring elementary schools) have also used this committee's figures to indicate the vertical district in 1964-65 will have enough fiscal "muscle" to handle new construction financing.

THIS HAS BEEN THE focus of sharp debate.

Committee Chairman Bert Scarborough has become one of the leaders for vertical reorganization, and this week prepared the letter which tackles last week's" Acalanes Board letter supporting the horizontal (or overall) district.

The committee's preferred vertical organization would create three districts with (1) Walnut Creek plus the Sun Valley area; (2) Lafayette plus northeastern Moraga; (3) Orinda, plus southwestern Moraga, plus Canyon.

Said the report, "The proposal is geographically and transportation-wise reasonable, and it makes the districts similar in size both in five years and ultimately.

"IT HAS THE DISADVANTAGE from Moraga's point of view of splitting Moraga.

The report also states that "Plan C" establishes boundary lines following "natural demarcations of easy transportation," and logical attendance areas.

It would send Sun Valley students to Del Valle High, southern Lafayette and Rheem Center students to the future "Rheem High School" and Old Moraga area students to Miramonte High.

Another vertical system where Moraga is not split but is added along with Canyon to Lafayette has shortcomings of too large size, artificial line between Orinda and Moraga and location of Orinda High too near district boundaries, said the report.

A THIRD VERTICAL proposal listed places Walnut Creek and Sun Valley together, and all the rest, Lafayette, Orinda, Moraga and Canyon together.

The size would be a disadvantage, but, "It would greatly simplify high school expansion problems," it said.

After explaining at length the basis for the figures, the committee launches into the assessed valuations and tax rates of the future.

No broad conclusions are drawn by reference to the figures, but the chart does show large increases in the assessed valuations in each case, indicating a wider tax base for future construction.

"OPERATING TAX RATES" are included in the chart, but no state repayments or other costs to the taxpayer.

The chart indicates Lafayette District would jump in property valuation from $28,290,000 in 1958-59, to some $40,750,000 in 1964-65.

Walnut Creek District would increase from $32,620,000 last year to $44,500,000 in 1964-65.

Orinda from $26,466,666 to $41,900,000.
Moraga from $2,790,000 to $7,300,000.
Canyon from $246,000 to $250,000.
Acalanes District: $90,412 000 to $134,700,000.

ALL THESE FIGURES pertain to the present system without any charge.

These figures are comparable under vertical unification, where the three districts take in some of their neighbors' areas, and they correspondingly increase where the three districts are narrowed down to only two major districts, each with its appropriate high schools.

Also, under the "ultimate, 1980," the Lafayette district goes to $75,300,000; the Walnut Creek District to $114,000,000; the Orinda District to $55,000,000; the Moraga District to $84,000,000. The Canyon District will remain at $250,000.

Under the present system, the homeowner receives a tax assessment from his elementary district and also another assessment from the Acalanes District.

THE SINGLE TAX BILL under any form of unification would not vary greatly from the "status quo" in 1980.

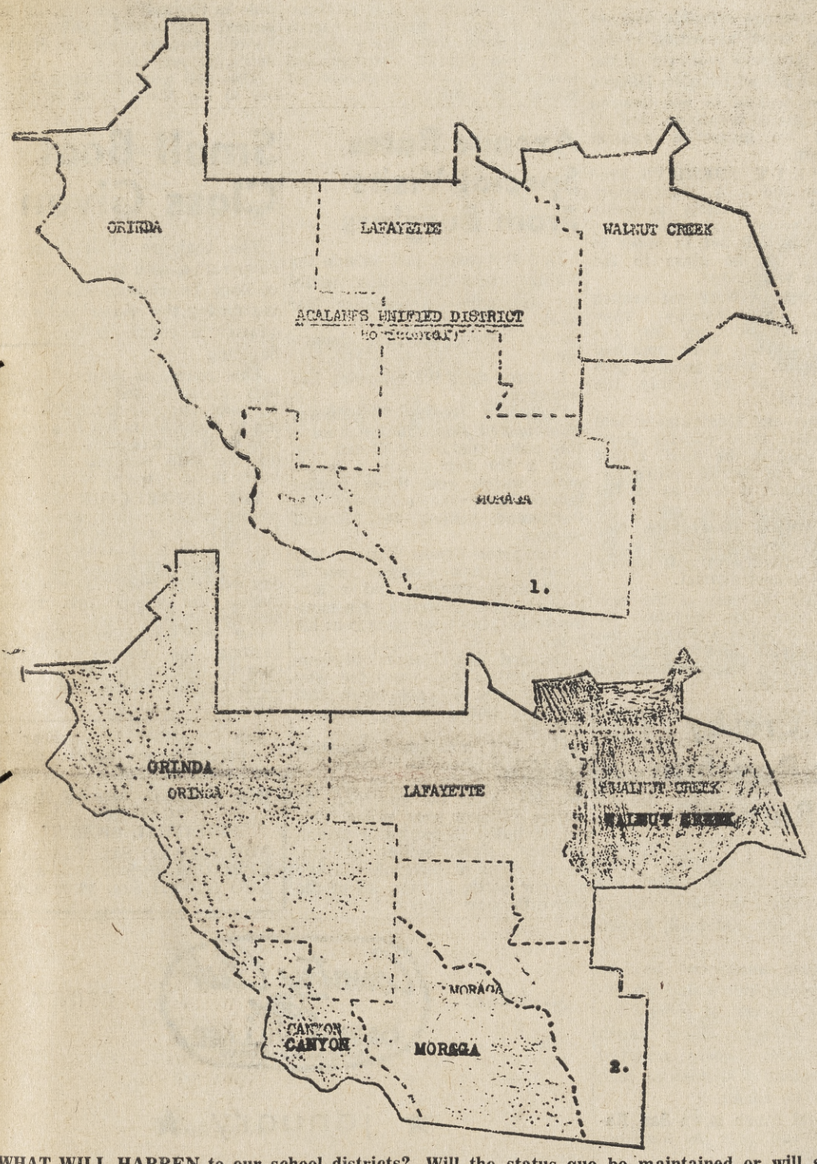
There would be no significant tax increase or savings by making a change, the chart indicates, with the exception of Canyon where "status quo" in 1980 would cost less.

This article is the last of a series which covers the special subcommittees of the County Schools Re-organization Committee.

Published last week and the week before were the "Staffing Patterns" and "Salary Schedules," "Articulation" and "Special Services."

They are the basis for debate within and between school district boards this week, and deliberation prior to the County Committee's "decision" meeting, next Wednesday.

Here Are Two of Six Unification Possibilities



WHAT WILL HAPPEN to our school districts? Will the status quo be maintained or will some form of unification be recommended? These two maps illustrate some of the possibilities. Map Number 1 shows the Acalanes High School District as it now exists. If horizontal unification becomes a realty, this will also comprise the boundaries of the total district. On the other hand, if status quo is maintained, this map is equally true as it shows the boundaries of the existing districts. Map Number 2 shows one form of vertical unification in which the existing district is split up into separate districts, each having its high school and lower-grade school plants.

School Unification? — A Problem

New Unification Plans Will Be Offered at Meet

Activity and discussion by school officials concerning the proposed unification of the Acalanes High School District area this week resulted in two new proposals which will be presented to the County Committee on School District Reorganization Wednesday.

The county committee will meet Wednesday night to vote on the various forms of unification which were offered for discussion at the group's meeting in December.

MEMBERS OF THE Orinda Union School District board of trustees voted Monday night to have their representative, Nathan Gray, present a resolution Monday night calling for further study of the unification proposal and a temporary status quo school district arrangement until the study is completed.

Under the Orinda resolution, there would be no vote taken at Wednesday night's county meeting.

The second new proposal developed during the last week was offered by W. B. Scarborough of the Lafayette School District board of trustees, who authored the December motion calling for a definite decision Wednesday favoring either vertical or horizontal unification or status quo.

SCARBOROUGH'S NEW plan would have the 17 members of the county committee vote Wednesday night only on which of the four vertical unification plans they favor.

The new Orinda plan was suggested by Trustee H. Gordon Ainsworth, who compared the present selection of unification proposals to a "dice game or lottery."

Ainsworth, who headed the staffing patterns subcommittee for the county committee, cited three basic reasons for a temporary delay in reaching a conclusion on the controversial unification issue.

HE SAID THE MAIN item which is lacking from the county committee's voluminous reports on the Acalanes district area is a resume of opinions from the area's school administrators — "our professional educators."

"Because all of the people who served on the study subcommittees are members of school boards within the area and the county, the administrators — the ones who know what form and what timing of unification would be best for us — did not feel free to express their opinions," the trustees explained.

Ainsworth continued, "We won't have the benefit of these opinions until we have some outside group study the area. The administrators will talk then, because they will be able to talk anonymously."

HIS SECOND REASON was that there is no hurry for the county committee to reach a decision. State law sets September 15, 1963 as the date by which county groups must have formulated a master plan for unification.

"At present," Ainsworth declared, "there is no basis for much of a decision. All of the propositions which have been offered are lacking in clear cut advantages."

Finally, he explained, the state superintendent of public instruction plans to ask Governor Brown during the special 1960 Legislature to appropriate monies for unification studies by individual school districts within the state.

THE NEW STATE law, passed last year, which demands eventual unification of all school districts in the state, originally contained allowances for study funds, but it was removed from the bill before passage.

Ainsworth said this state level activity indicates there is no urgency in reaching the unification decision, and "it might be well for this area to take advantage of some of the funds if they are forthcoming."

Although the Orinda board is unanimously behind the plan to delay action on the issue, its members are equally as unanimous in favoring the two-way vertical plan "f" if they have to reach some conclusion next week.

PLAN "F" CONSISTS of one unified district comprising the present Orinda, Moraga and Canyon districts and another made up of the existing Walnut Creek and Lafayette districts.

The board also went on record Monday night favoring any form of vertical unification over the horizontal, or total, plan, if the issue should reach that stage Wednesday night.

Scarborough's "limited vote" plan is almost identical to that offered two weeks ago by trustees of the Acalanes Union High School District, except that the Lafayette trustee will ask for an adjournment after a decision has been reached on a vertical plan.

What is Best For the Kids...?

THESE YOUNGSTERS are hardly aware of the organization of their school district . . . they are too busy learning their "three R's." But the decision on who will operate their schools, and how, is up to us, and the important thing to consider is what is best for them. Lose sight of this goal, and the whole problem becomes meaningless.

Lafayette Board Hits One District

A new letter by the Lafayette school board's Bert Scarborough attacks the Acalanes school board's earlier letter which favored an overall unified school district for the Acalanes area, and backs the "vertical" form.

It was submitted by Lafayette board chairman Boardman Moore in the absence of Scarborough, at a meeting Monday night, and became the subject of debate.

Moore indicated that actually the Orinda school board had suggested such a letter at an informal meeting held January 7 (see separate stories) and the Walnut Creek board which attended did not object in any way.

"MORAGA IS CAUGHT in between, and Canyon would like any form of unification," Moore commented.

Moore had intended that the new letter should be submitted to the County Schools Reorganization Committee as the product of the entire Lafayette board.

But trustee Bob Pedder brought him up short with a reminder that he (Pedder) had been a dissenter in the board's earlier 4-1 vote for a three district, vertical unification move.

"You can sign it individually only," he insisted.

MOORE REPLIED that the letter, which he strongly supports, is chiefly the work of Scarborough, and could be sent to the county committee over his signature.

The letter attacked the high school board's "economics," and insists that the alleged inability of the vertical district to finance necessary new high schools may be valid today, but not in 1965.

It continues that any form of unification is not likely before 1965, and points to the assessed valuation subcommittee's report and its reference to the Odell and Associates' reports.

Those reports indicate that three vertically unified districts in the area would each have valuations of more than $40 million each by 1965.

THIS WOULD suffice to finance new high schools, the letter indicates.

Moore's prediction in conjunction with the letter:

In 1965, Walnut Creek District (with Sun Valley) will have its two present high schools, Lafayette, with northeastern Moraga (including the Rheem area) will have two high schools, including the present Acalanes High, and Orinda district, with southwestern Moraga and Canyon, would have Miramonte High and be building its second high school.

The letter itself is not quite so specific on division of vertical districts.

THE LETTER also states the increased money base for each vertical district will enable it to employ high talent administrators and teachers and also retain the special services and instructions which the Acalanes district presently claims.

It also emphasizes the "importance of personal contact" which impliedly would be stronger in a vertical district than an overall district, the need for "flesh and blood" relationships, the reduced responsibility of overall district trustees.

It was pointed out that even the Lafafette board, which committed itself early, has not instructed a representative how to vote on each and every alternative, Wednesday, and this may have to be done on Tuesday.

THIS MAY BE a problem with the other boards, also, trustees surmised.

Moore hinted that the Acalanes board is not really in favor of overall unification. It wants the status quo, and is using the "over" proposal to "muddy" the waters, he said.

Superintendent Favors Vertical Unification

Superintendent Joseph L. Sheaff and his staff of administrators in the Orinda Union School District reported this week that they favor a modified form of one of the vertical unification plans now before the County Committee on School District Reorganization.

The announcement by Sheaff was the first definite position made public by a school administrator in the central county during the current discussions regarding unification of the Acalanes High School District area.

SHEAFF SAID HE and the other Orinda administrators favor a revised plan "f"—the vertical plan which calls for two separate districts, one encompassing the present Walnut Creek and Lafayette districts and the other, the present Orinda, Moraga and Canyon districts.

Only revision in the plan which the Orinda professional school leaders would desire is the separation of the Walnut Creek and Lafayette districts, thus resulting in three separate districts within the area.

"All of the existing districts, Walnut Creek and Lafayette among them, are separate entities and each has its own philosophy of education. For this reason, it would be disadvantageous, in our minds, to combine them," Sheaff stated.

THE BUSINESS MANAGER of the Orinda district, James Jentges, explained the reasons his fellow staff members gave for their selection of the modified plan "f."

First, he reported, this plan would enable the Orinda district to retain control over the whole kindergarten through 12th grade school system in Orinda, Moraga and Canyon.

Second, according to Jentges, it allows for two eventual high schools in the proposed Orinda unified district. Miramonte is an existing school in the district, he went on, and the plan favored by the administrators would also include the Rheem high school site in the Orinda district.

LASTLY, THE business manager said, the favored plan allows for "the articulated absorption" of the Moraga and Canyon areas into the Orinda district.

Sheaff, meanwhile, told The Sun that he is definitely opposed to horizontal (total, or one single district) unification and would favor any form of vertical unification "for educational reasons."

Under a single unified district for the whole area, he explained, the existing elementary school teachers and administrators would lose all control over the elementary curriculum and the education of grammar school students is liable to suffer as a result.

"BESIDES," SHEAFF said, "the articulation and cooperation between the existing Orinda Union School District and the Acalanes Union High School District is getting better and better every day, and this, too, might suffer under a single district."

The superintendent stated that if the area is vertically unified any other way than the one favored by his staff, "Orinda would lose the Rheem high school site, and we don't want to lose that."

Should Letter Be Made Public?

Here are the comments of Lafayette Board trustee Bob Pedder and Lafayette Board chairman Boardman Moore, concerning the advisability of circulating a letter attacking the earlier Acalanes School District letter:

PEDDER: "Why send the letter? This type of propaganda is not putting the trustees in a good light. . . . The decision rests with the county committee — why should this board and the high school board fight it out with letters and publicity? . . . We have seen the reports—what right do we have to try to sway the other boards? . . . Our letter and the Acalanes letter are in very poor taste . . ."

Moore: "We feel the facts should be presented . . . the public is entitled to know what is going on. . . . We are trying to establish a common boundary of facts. . . . This information is vital to other board members.

Mt. Diablo's Unification Solved Provincial Woes

By POLITICUS

Mt. Diablo Union High School District and eight elementary districts became the Mt. Diablo Unified School district in 1948. Since that time the district has grown into one of the largest in the state.

With its $10 million budget, its four completed high schools, two high schools under construction, its five intermediate schools with more in construction and its 30-odd schools, Mt. Diablo has served as a state-wide example of how effective unification can be.

MT. DIABLO'S tax rate is lower than school tax rates in Walnut Creek, Lafayette, Moraga, Canyon, and Orinda.

The total tax rate for any of the central county communities, excluding Pleasant Hill, Alamo and Danville, must be computed by adding the Acalanes tax rate plus the elementary district tax rate. In all cases, the Mt. Diablo tax rate is more than $1 per $100 assessed valuation lower.

Mt. Diablo's reason for unification was basically the great spread of assessed valuation in the various districts of the Mt. Diablo Union High School District.

IN CONCORD there was only approximately $300 behind each pupil in school, while in the Avon School District there was nearly $1 million behind each student.

Unification gave the nine districts an equalization of tax base and offered industrial and commercial taxes to purely residential areas.

In the initial election for the Mt. Diablo Board of Education, some 19 persons from throughout the new district ran for office.

Of the first five elected, each area of the district was represented with the exception of Pleasant Hill (which at that time was mostup pasture land).

At present, although trustees are elected at large, there are trustees from West Pittsburg, Concord, Pleasant Hill and Clayton Valley and Ygnacio Valley, every area of the unified school district.

MT. DIABLO, however, did not have many of the problems which face the Acalanes Union High School district, as far as total unification is concerned.

There was one high school district with one high school, Mt. Diablo. This school had served all of central Contra Costa for nearly 50 years at the time of unification.

The Acalanes district is an outgrowth of the old Mt. Diablo High School District.

There was one city, Concord, and the unincorporated geographic areas had not gained the identity which Lafayette, Orinda, Moraga areas have attained over the past 10 years.

CONCORD WAS considered the hub of social, civic, cultural and school activities at the time of unification, whereas each of the Acalanes area communities consider themselves to be somewhat self-sufficient.

Mt. Diablo gears its curriculum from the kindergarten through Grade XII, since one board is responsible for all activities circricular and extra curricular. It is able to control all transportation, all services and all budgetary requirements through one administrative staff rather than several overlapping jurisdictions.

THROUGH its size, according to state records, it has made considerable savings through combined purchasing power. The City of Concord, which recently cut its tax rate by 20 per cent, purchases through the school district for additional savings.

What is unification?

What do "horizontal unification" and "vertical unification" mean?

Because this issue is so important, and because it affects every child and parent living within the boundares of the Acalanes High School District, The Sun this week has devoted its front page to this question.

Although the residents of the area will not be asked to vote on this question at the present, it will be considered by the County Reorganization Committee Wednesday night at Acalanes High School at 8 o'clock.

The usual "Page One" news will be found on page three.

'Vertical' Is Favored by WC Committee

The Administration Committee of the Walnut Creek School District will recommend at the regular trustee board Monday that it consider "some form of vertical unification" in deciding how to vote as a board, Wednesday.

The committee, headed by Dweitt Krueger, spent several hours Wednesday night discussing financial and educational factors involved in the alternatives.

A specific form of vertical unification will be left for the Monday discussion. Krueger is preparing his report now.

It has been known that the Walnut Creek district feels that it can do a good educational job under a vertical arrangement, and it feels joining the other districts under a horizontal, or overall organization, would mean paying tax-wise for the expansion and new schools in other areas. Walnut Creek is relatively "built-up."

'Secret' Unification Confab Draws All Boards

The Sun and other area newspapers were not informed of, or invited to the somewhat confused unification conference, attended by all school boards and most top administrators, January 7 in the Pine Grove School, Orinda.

The Orinda School Board called the meeting, and the word was spread mostly by telephone. Orinda Board Chairman Natha Gray presided. Twenty-four persons attended.

The question put was—had the boards made up thei rcollective minds on how to vote?—as various proposals, vertical, horizontal and status quo are squared off, two-by-two, in an elimination process.

It was learned many of the six boards did not have their moves calculated.

The meeting was later termed a "semi-annual meeting for trustees in the Acalanes area," but it was revealed that this is usually a dinner event. No dinner was served January 5.

An admission that not calling the area press, which is required under the California "Brown Act" was an "administrative error" was drawn from Gray, also Orinda Superintendent Joseph Sheaff, Mrs. Dorothy Pearson, secretary, and H. Gordon Ainsworth, Orinda trustee.

However, at an entirely different meeting Monday of the Lafayette Board, Trustee Bob Pedder made several statements objecting to circulating a controversial letter, publically, which may have reflected the view of some trustees or administrators on January 7.

Pedder told Lafayette Board Chairman Boardman Moore: "Why send the letter? The type of propaganda is not putting the trustees in a good light. . . . Why should the board and the high school board fight it out with letters and publicity?"

Moore replied, "The public is entitled to know what is going on . . ."

15 Handicapped People Embark on Hopeful New Program

By NORMAN COLBY

Fifteen handicapped persons, ranging in age from three to 57 years, will be carefully lowered into the waters of St. Mary's College swimming pool, tomorrow morning.

This will be the first session in what is hoped will become one of the area's most unusual and humane new programs.

Gamely trying to regain some of the lost fundamentals of a wonderful sport and at the same time benefitting from morale boosting recreation will be a nine year old boy (a post polio case), a 37-year-old woman with lateral schlerosis, a 17-year-old boy with perisis of the toe, also paraplegic, cerebral palsy, meningitis and other victims.

DETERMINED TO give this program a real chance, although admitting there are some difficulties, is Karl Mahler, manager of the Mt. Diablo Chapter of the American Red Cross.

He has turned the program over to Mrs. Richard Myer of Orinda, the chapter's water safety chairman and program administrator.

Able assistance will come from Mrs. George Cooper of Pleasant Hill, Mrs. Myer's top assistant.

Co-sponsors are the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center, which is lending good advice, and St. Mary's College, which is lending its large, olympic pool, once-a-week.

BUT THAT'S NOT the end of it. In addition to Mrs. Myer, three other capable Red Cross workers, Mrs. Paula Martin and Mrs. Jean Wieben of Pleasant Hill and Jim White of Pittsburg, attended special training last year to teach the "Swimming for the Handicapped Program."

And getting the 15 "students" to St. Mary's by 9:30 a.m., from all parts of the Mt. Diablo Chapter area won't be easy. That's up to three adult supervisors and a large group of area high school boys and girls, who will be the chauffeurs.

Mahler, whose Red Cross headquarters is in Walnut Creek, said, "The purpose of the program is to give our 'students' a familiarity with the water to the best of their ability, and provide recreation.

"Some of them are very eager to try it. Others have been advised by their physicians to undertake it.

"IT IS NOT a simple matter. The transportation, the actual teaching, the getting them in and out of the water, the temperature of water, special equipment, administration — they must all be handled.

"The water of the St. Mary's pool is normally 72 degrees which is fine for active swimmers, but we are hoping that a raise to 80 degrees which the school says is possible, will be warm enough.

"August Zinse, the college comptroller, has been wonderful in his cooperation."

HE ADDED, "The early sessions will tell us how successful the present location and technique is.

"The methods are not new, however, as the American Red Cross has sponsored this program in various areas for seven years. Sacramento has it; Oakland's program is somewhat different."

Planter Strip Will Be Constructed This Year

By LARRY GLAZIER

The Central Contra Costa Sanitary District, county officials and local civic leaders have devised a plan which would result in the complete "face-lifting" of Mt. Diablo Boulevard's business district before the end of the year, The Sun learned this week.

Some specifics of the plan have yet to be worked out, but Chairman Mel Nielsen of the County Board of Supervisors indicated work will start on the huge beautification project in June and should be completed sometime in October.

Preliminary details of the agreement were evolved at a meeting Wednesday noon between Nielsen; County Public Works Director Vic Sauer; Traffic Engineer Mark Kermit; Gerry Horstkotte, sanitary district manager, and a local group.

THE LOCAL LEADERS who attended included Jack Hageman, Stewart Wade, and Stanford White, all of the Lafayette Design Project.

Generally speaking, the plan provides a center planter strip along Mt. Diablo Boulevard from the East Bay Municipal Utility District filter plant to Fourth Street, overhead street lights and curbs, gutters an dsidewalks all along the boulevard.

Nielsen, Hageman and Wade met with District Attorney John Nejedly yesterday afternoon to determine whether it was possible to form an emergency street lighting district before the February 1 tax deadline in order to accomplish the street light project this year.

THERE WAS NO REPORT of the meeting available at press time, but Nielsen indicated that emergency measures will have to be taken in order to establish the lighting district in time for the tax rates to be effectitve during the 1960-61 fiscal year.

The three groups involved — the sanitary district, the county and the local citizenry — are reportedly hopeful that all of the projects can be constructed during the time the sanitary district is installing its new pipeline down the center of the boulevard.

Horstkotte has repeatedly stated that the sanitary district's sewer line plans call for the installation of the center planter strip, if the Lafayette residents and businessmen desire it. He told the group Wednesday that the district will begin work in June.

AS OUTLINED BY Nielsen, the center strip will be installed by the sanitary district, lighting would be taken care of by the emergency lighting district, which would tax local property owners to a small extent, and curbs and gutters would be paid for by each individual property owner.

If the plan is put through, the county board chairman said, the county will repave the boulevard to the curbs at county cost and will plant and maintain the center strip out of county beautification funds.

Nielsen said, 'I have been working for this kind of Mt. Diablo Boulevard project for a long time and I am very happy that it now appears to be nearing reality. We now have hit the right group of Lafayette residents and businessmen to work with, and I will do everything I can on the government end of the project."

AN ATTEMPT WAS MADE some time ago to solicit property owners' support by petition of a special curb and gutter district along the boulevard, but it failed for lack of sufficient signatures.

During the most recent negotiations for the planter strip, however, a chamber committee, headed by Leo Schell, contacted merchants and owners on the main street concerning such a plan, and it had been reported that the reaction was favorable enough to warrant further discussions.

The Lafayette Design Project, since its formation nearly two years ago, has maintained that the first step toward total beautification of the community must be "an outstanding design plan" along Mt. Diablo Boulevard.

WADE REPORTED yesterday that the center strip is to be a reality, whether or not the lighting and curbing districts are formed.

"The county and sanitary district have agreed to share the cost of Lafayette's beautification along the plans of the design project, and now we are certain that Lafayette will become an outstanding community," the local man said.

In addition, Wade noted, Horstkotte indicated the district may spend up to $1500 for a landscape design plan for the proposed strip.

HORSTKOTTE TOLD the group that no more than 150 feet of the boulevard will be open at any time during the construction, and the planter strip will be between six and eight feet wide.

Nielsen, Sauer and Kermit assured the design project that the county will take traffic control measures to minimize the amount of inconvenience to traffic through the community.

If the entire plan becomes a reality, Nielsen said, the county will straighten its 100-foot right-of-way along the boulevard, thus providing parallel parking throughout the town and "it will make a real nice town out of Lafayette."

Girl Charged As Drunk in Borrowed Car

Susan Runyon Wendt, 19, of Diablo, was charged by Walnut Creek police with being drunk in and about an automobile after an incident at Mel's Drive-in, early Saturday morning.

Police reports said Alden A. Jones of Alamo returned to the place where he had parked his car at Mel's and it was gone, so he informed police.

Officers, said they later spotted the 1957 Ford, parked at the drive-in with Miss Wendt and a friend, Judith Lee Renouf, 20, of Hayward, in it, and added Miss Wendt had "borrowed" the car. She had formerly dated Jones.

The two girls drove to Danville and back, officers said. Jones, on learning Miss Wendt had taken the car, was anxious to drop the entire matter, and the original booking for "joy-riding" was dismissed.

However, officers talking to the two girls, said they found several drinks in the car.

Miss Wendt was given a sobriety test by a physician, they reported.

Miss Wendt was booked at the county jail after calling her parents, was released on bail, and will appear Tuesday in Walnut Creek Municipal Court.

Services for Mrs. Anderson

Funeral services for Mrs. Katherine G. Anderson of 3545 East View Drive, Lafayette, were held last Friday. She died January 5.

She was a member of the Walnut Creek Presbyterian Church, the United Crusade and American Heart Association.

She is survived by her husband, Alonzo, a daughter, Katherina Anderson of Lafayette, two brothers, Dr. Charles Gratiot and Dr. John Gratiot, both of Monterey.

Two Die in Crash Of Firm's Plane; Local Man Hurt

Two top executives of the Utah Construction Company were killed Wednesday when a company plane crashed and burned near a Southern Utah highway, and just minutes from a safe landing at an airfield.

Four other Utah Company officials were injured, including Douglas D. Garneau, 41, of 3390 Angelo Street, the firm's chief pilot. The plane was co-piloted by James L. Wisman, 34, of Concord.

DEAD WERE JOSEPH A. (Tony) Mecia, 43, general vice president of the company, which is the largest single landowner in the Moraga area, and Homer A. Mann, manager of mining services. Mecia resided in Los Altos, Mann in Menlo Park.

The twin-engined transport plane was enroute from San Francisco and Palo Alto to the company's iron mining operations at Cedar City, Utah.

According to reports, Garneau said that an engine failed and the craft plunged to the ground just after it broke through low overcast on its landing approach.

The local pilot, who was released from a hospital after emergency treatment for shock, burns and cuts, told Federal Aviation Agency officials in Salt Lake City that the plane stalled out

'Fairyland' To Fascinate Tiny Tots

Creation of a distinctive and delightful "Tiny Tot" area, covering more than an acre of the Walnut Creek main park's 10 acres, has ceased to be a brainchild of Recreation Director Ruth Wallis, and is now a city-accepted project.

The area will blanket the southeast corner of the big park, utilizing the kiddies' pool and rest room facilities already existing.

Added will be new trees and bushes, climbing pyramid, childs' craft tables, a "lifetime whirl" Slide-O-Bug, poly blocks, Lillipution wood, a tot house, turtle tent, sand playtable, merry-go-round, a curved wooden bridge, swings and other apparatus, benches.

The entire cost will run about $15,000, but local groups will lend strong fiscal assistance.

Completion will be in five steps, with the first step including removal of much of the present equipment in the area, including swings and slides, also trees and shrubs, and laying of paving and asphalt.

The new area should be ready by the summer of 1961.

4300 San Ramon Acres Are Sold

The purchase of 4300 acres in the San Ramon Valley south of Walnut Creek was announced this week.

Purchaser is the Volk-McLain Company of Los Angeles, which has built and sold about $30 millions in homes and real estate in the past year.

The Volk-McLain Company's plans have not been detailed, but indications are that construction may begin later this year.

This property was taken under option by Carl W. Buck Company of Los Angeles last year, and there were plans for a model city of 29,000 and 105,000 people. The option was not exercised.

Model Railroad Show to Roll on January 29-31

The annual model railroad show will be held on January 29, 30, and 31 in the clubhouse of the Walnut Creek Model Railroad Society, Railroad Avenue near the Southern Pacific Station.

The extensive HO gage operation of the Diablo Valley Lines will be open to the public.

Scale model engines and trains will operate realistically over the large trackwork layout through carefully constructed scenery simulating a prototype operation.

Many new improvements will be offered since last year's show.

Under the leadership of President Dave Westcott of Walnut Creek a new power supply has been installed. New operating controls have been built.

A new communication system has been put in; the trackwork has been improved; new yard tracks completed, and improved types of operation will be shown.

Responding to the enthusiastic interest shown by the public in past years, the club members are doing everything possible to make the show even more attractive, Westcott said.

The admission charge will be 25 cents.

March of Dimes Drive Is Vital, Says Leader

Contra Costa County's 1960 March of Dimes drive is one of the most vital in its 22 year history, Joe De Rosa, countywide chairman, declared this week as the campaign to benefit the county's crippled gained momentum.

De Rosa supported his statement with the following salient points:

1. "We are in an ascending cycle of paralytic polio in this nation, as borne out by last year's figures. In 1959 paralytic polio doubled throughout the country, and several states had serious epidemics. Medical science tells us that paralytic polio goes in cycles of 'troughs' and 'peaks'. We are ascending toward a peak in 1960."

2. "Because of this fact we need a stepped-up Salk inoculation program to protect the 50 per cent of our county population—young and old—who have not yet received the vaccine. March of Dimes funds pay for the program."

Augmented funds are also needed to support the National Foundation's expanded program of patient care and research in the new realms of birth defects and crippling arthritis, De Rosa explained.

"Consider, said De Rosa, "that today in Contra Costa County one out of every four families has someone crippled with arthritis, and that to one out of every 16 families a baby with a birth defect will be born during the coming year. They will benefit from the Foundation's care and research only if our citizens respond generously to the March of Dimes appeal," said De Rosa.

Part of the funds collected will be allocated toward foundation of a Pacific Coast Birth Defects Center in the near future, which will combine clinical treatment with research and professional training," De Rosa explained. The first was just inaugurated at Children's Hospital, Columbus, Ohio.

TB Drive Leader Calls For New Effort

"Once again the citizens of Contra Costa County have pledged their faith in the voluntary fight against tuberculosis by supporting the Christmas Seal appeal," Mrs. George Chapman of Antioch, campaign chairman of the Contra Costa Tuberculosis and Health Association said.

Reporting on results of the 1959 Seal campaign, Mrs. Chapman said she hoped late contributions would bring the total from its present $52,132 to somewhere near the $65,000 estimated as necessary to carry on the association's essential activities during the coming year.

Till Tappers Get $765 in Two Raids

Two grand thefts occurred at central-county stores during busy shopping periods early Monday afternoon, resulting in estimated $765 loss.

Sheriff's investigators said that both might have been perpetuated by the same thieves.

At W. R. Warren Drugs, 185 North Pleasant Hill Road, Pleasant Hill, between $350 and $400 was stolen from a drawer behind the prescription counter.

At Sprouse-Reitz variety store, 64 Moraga Highway, Orinda, some $240 in cash and $125 in checks were taken from a tin cash box in the rear office.

Mrs. Warren, wife of the drug store owner, told deputies the only possible suspects she could recall might have been two ruddy-complexioned, dark-haired men about 30 years old, each weighing about 190 pounds, who came into the store together.

The pharmacy is at the Grayson Road intersection.

The variety store theft was reported by employee Edward Amatrone, who said he did not notice any suspicious aets or persons in the place.

Panes Smashed At Vallecito; Damage at $1200

Sheriff's deputies are investigating a sudden spurt of vandalism at the Vallecito School, 1000 Happy Valley Road, Monday night, which resulted in the breakage of all of the school's 93 windows.

Total damage estimate was set at about $1200, according to Sig Hansen, business manager of the Lafayette School District. Hansen said the district is not insured against glass breakage, but is covered by insurance against vandalism.

DEPUTY SHERIFFS Fred Teuscher and J. A. Montgomery reported the vandals probably were juveniles and must have used a baseball bat in order to break all of the glass in the period of 30 minutes.

The windows were not broken at 6:05 p.m. Monday, when Principal Helen Cory left the school, but they were smashed at 6:35 p.m. when another person arrived at the facility, the officers said.

Teuscher and Montgomery said the vandals were careful about not stepping in the mud, a fact which left the sheriff's office virtually without a clue as to the culprits.

ACCORDING TO Hansen, this was the first vandalism to so great an extent ever suffered by the local school district.

He listed the cost of the new glass, which was installed by Tuesday, at about $1000, and the cost of having nine men work on the cleanup and maintenance job at about $200.

Bing Crosby Buys Ranch in San Ramon

The Vern T. Andreasen 61-acre ranch in San Ramon Valley has been purchased by Harry (Bing) Crosby, the nationally-known singer.

Andreasen announced he had exchanged his ranch and an unstipulated amount of money for Crosby's 480-acre clover ranch near Oakdale. Crosby received the equivalent of $200,000 in cash and land, he added.

The local ranch is on San Ramon Highway, near the Alameda County line.

Andreasen will continue to manage the ranch for Crosby for three years. Whether residential development will follow is not known.

Avenue Rates Special Visits From Burglars

Newell Avenue, just outside the Walnut Creek city limits, really got its share of burglars last week, according to reports of the Contra Costa sheriff's department.

In three days the following has occurred:

Custodian Stanley Silverthorn, 60, reported that thieves stole a coin purse containing $2 and also took a $20 stop watch, a man's wrist watch and three pocket knives from the office of the Parkmead School, 1847 Newell Avenue.

Contractor Ernest Flener, 1681 Newell Avenue, suffered loss of a 12-gauge shotgun and a 300-caliber rifle, as well as his hunting jacket, from the garage at his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Flener told sheriff's deputies they wondered why the burglars did not touch $200 worth of liquor in an adjoining cupboard.

The last-mentioned question was erased when the Fleners discovered that during the night—two days after the gun theft—24 bottles of liquor were stolen. This loot included 12 bottles of Scotch whiskey, eight bottles of gin, three bottles of bourbon whiskey and one bottle of rum, all of the four-fifth-quart size.

What Could Be More Fun Than a Real, Live, Clown?

Children and Parents Orindan's Hobby Delights

By JEAN JERNIGAN

Meet Happy the Clown, a man who really ENJOYS working with kids!

Happy has a hobby that delights kids throughout the East Bay and turns parties for tots to sheer joy for their parents too.

The man with a twinkle in his eye and chuckle in his voice has had twenty years of experience working with kids and has indulged in his favorite hobby here, on Saturdays, since last summer.

Once Mom has scheduled a party with Happy, her worries are over. Happy arrives on the scene with his specially designed merry-go-round, party favors, prizes, and assorted, carefully planned games. Mom can relax, take pictures, or serve coffee to the adults, Happy handles the youngsters.

RAIN OR SHINE, Happy performs. The Merry-go-round is manually operated, goes fast or slow, needs no electric power and can fit in a garage if need be. There are six horses and two fire trucks on the Happy-built merry-go-round.

While 8 youngsters are gaily zooming around, Happy plays games with them. The games are planned to be humorous, so kids watching and waiting a turn are as entertained as those on the merry-go-round.

Magic tricks, physical stunts, on-the-ground games and a genuine love for little folk make all of Happy's parties a success. He often returns three or more times to different birthdays in one home, and to homes in the same neighborhood.

The success of Happy's Hobby didn't just happen. Eldest of five children of a physical education teacher, Happy planned to teach too. From the time he was 12 he belonged to the "Y", delighted in camping, fishing, hunting, all playground sports.

HAPPY GRADUATED from Western Reserve, a major in Education Psychology. He worked for a time in Cleveland and in Dallas as Y.M.C.A. Physical Ed Director, Playground Recreation Director and School Teacher.

His career was interrupted by World War II and he put in four years with Navy as Lieutenant Commander, Welfare and Recreation Officer.

While on Guam, Happy was in charge of the nursery schools and had to build most of the equipment, from desks and chairs, to fun things for the playground.

After the war he worked in San Diego for a time as Government Recreation Consultant for the F.H.A. until the funds for this gave out.

While still in the Navy he had devised a method for showing films to hospitalized men who were confined to bed. Tinkering with projectors and such led Happy to combine two talents, showmanship and ability to entertain kids.

HE RE-DESIGNED two moving vans, creating a "Little Theater" on wheels. Each van would seat 70 kids, and Happy went from block to block, often giving as many as 20 shows a day. His was a booming career until Korea, and it was back to the Navy for Happy.

He was separated from service in Honolulu after four more years of service, and there started his original party service.

Known as the "Merry-go-round Man" he dressed in cowboy costume. In Los Angeles where he did six months TV work he was known as Deputy Dan, the Party Man.

A summons from the Navy to serve a year of "emergency" service in 1955 again called a halt to a successful career.

Coming to the Bay Area in 1956 as Bay Area Director for the United Crusade, Happy who is really Kenneth Warfield of Orinda, now clowns only as a hobby.

THE PRESSURES and demands of the serious work of fund raising created a tremendous need for some form of relaxation. Because he loves kids and finds his party service the best way to relax, Happy indulges in his hobby on Saturdays only, much the way many executives take to the Golf links.

Happy says, "I enjoy working with the kids and the pleasure of the parents is rewarding. I find joy and relaxation in conducting the parties."

Happy has three children of his own, Guy, 10, Gay, 9, Gwen, 6, who are at home with Mom and Dad at 14 Las Piedros, Orinda.

MOMS WHO wish to schedule Happy for a party should contact him two to three weeks in advance. The charge is within the reach of most families, for it is not a business venture for Happy, but a hobby that gives pleasure to all.

Sandra Lynn Schroeder Orinda's First For 1960

Miss Orinda of 1960 is a curaceous brunette whose arrival in this world on January 5 at 3:44 p.m. won her the honor of being Orinda's first new year baby.

She tipped the scales at Alta Bates Hospital to 8 pounds, eleven ounces and measured 22 inches "tall." Named Sandra Lynn by her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Schroeder of Esta Buena, Orinda, the pretty little Miss has two big brothers. They are Scott who will be 3 on March 4 and Kurt who will be 2 April 5.

Mrs. Schroeder says of her sons, "They are very pleased, both of them wanted a baby sister." Also on the list of delighted relatives was Sandra's grandmother, Mrs. Helen Asher, who was up from Merced to care for her grandsons and welcome home her new granddaughter.

Sandra's other grandparents are Leonard Schraeder of Ridge Manor, Florida, and Mrs. Cora Schroeder of Onalaska, Wisconsin.

Dr. and Mrs. Schroeder lived in Lafayette prior to moving to their Orinda home about 6 months ago. He is affiliated with the Children's Hospital of the Eastbay.

Sandra Lynn will receive a shower of gifts from Orinda merchants.

Winsor Will Head Local Dimes March

The appointment of Allen P. Winsor as 1960 chairman of the New March of Dimes in Orinda has been announced by Joe De Rosa, county chairman.

Winsor, 41, joined the Orinda Fire Department as a hoseman at the close of World War II and has worked through the department. He will take over as chief on March 1.

In accepting the chairmanship, Winsor said, "Fighting diseases such as polio, birth defects and arthritis requires the same techniques that are required in fighting fire. You must have trained personnel, teamwork and sufficient funds to procure modern and efficient equipment.

"The National Foundation has gone a long way towards whipping polio. If we can sell the people on the fact that the foundation's new program is even more important than its old work, I know we will raise enough money to do the job ahead."

The traditional Fathers' March is scheduled in Orinda for the night of January 28. Winsor urged all prior participants in the march to volunteer their services by calling him at the Orinda fire station, CLifford 4-4333.

Construction at Inland Valley Starts Next Week

The $553,432 bid of the Reynolds Construction Company of Santa Rosa for construction of the Inland Valley intermediate school was formally accepted by the Orinda Union School District board of trustees Monday night.

Trustees signed the new contract after the bid total was formally sanctioned by the State Department of Education late last week.

JOSEPH SHEAFF, district superintendent, said construction on the project will probably start early next week, meaning that the new school will be ready for occupancy by the beginning of the fall term.

The school will be the district's second intermediate facility—the other being Pine Grove School.

Members of the school board also approved a contract for $2200 with the landscape architectural firm of Osmundson and Staley for master landscape plans for the two new Inland Valley schools.

LABOR AND materials for the planting will be provided by members of the Inland Valley Parents Club and school employees, according to Sheaff.

The professional contract is based on a cost of $1100 per school.

In their final action concerning the Inland Valley sites Monday night, trustees hired Arnold White as inspector for the new construction project at a salary of $600 per month.

White was employed on the projects at Glorietta School, completed last September, and the Inland Valley School, completed last month.

Teacher Resigns, Five Are Hired

The board of trustees of the Orinda Union Schol District accepted one teacher's resignation and hired five new teachers at its regular meeting Monday night.

Mrs. Diane Kisich, a fourth grade instructor at Del Rey School, resigned due to personal reasons.

THE FIVE NEW teachers for whom contracts were approved are Miss Barbara Busselman, Miss Joanne Edlund, Miss Beverly Reed, Mrs. Diane Kubly and Miss Lynne Dewar.

All of the new teachers will be entering their first teaching positions beginning February 1.

Joseph Sheaff, superintendent of the district, reported to the trustees that this month's total enrollment figure is 3259, with the following school-by-school breakdown: Del Ray 485, Glorietta 514, Orinda 490, Inland Valley 434, Sleepy Hollow 685 and Pine Grove 651.

Fire Department Reports Finest Year During '59

Despite a lack of rain and resultant dry land conditions, Orinda Fire Department officials this week reported that 1959 was the department's best year.

Fire Marshal William Koch said the department had only one serious grass and brush fire during last year, and that one was set by juveniles.

IN ADDITION, he noted, structural losses due to fires during the period amounted to only $9600, while in 1958 the total damage figure was $47,000 and in 1957 it was $33,000.

Koch called the precedent-setting drought during 1959 a cause of "very hazardous fire conditions," and he thanked the residents of Orinda for their cooperation in keeping the number and total damage of fires to a record low.

The fire department as a whole thanked the Orinda Women's Club, the Orinda Rotary Club and the Orinda Junior Chamber of Commerce for helping the department acquire additional resuscitators, first aid supplies and other emergency and rescue equipment during the year.

Koch's report indicated that 106—or more than two per week—persons required emergency assistance from the fire department's service truck during 1959.

Audubon Film To Be Shown

The Audubon screen tour, "Land the Glaciers Forgot," filmed in the mid West land mass which the great glaciers bypassed, will be shown at Diablo Valley College Monday night at 8 in the gymnasium.

The colored film and lecture by Howard L. Orians will be open to the public without charge as part of the college conservation education program.

Orians, past president of the Wisconsin Society of Ornithology, photographed the unusual study of interrelated wildlife and geology which includes a whimsical bird bathing-beauty contest and distinctive shots of prairie chickens, fox cubs, otters, badgers, and other wildlife.

Committee Heads Are Named By Association

Richard Bartle has been appointed to serve as second year as chairman of the planning committee of the Orinda Association.

The appointment was one of 11 made by the association's directors at a special meeting Tuesday night at the home of the group's new president, Victor Kingston.

BARTLE WAS commended by the association's 1959 board of directors for his service last year and "for his excellent and untiring efforts on behalf of the Orinda community in the field of planning."

Directors also drew up a schematic plan of action for the coming year, and placed an all-out membership drive at the head of their list.

Second in importance for the association this year will be a study of multiple dwelling proposals for the Orinda community, including on the Altarinda properties.

THE ONLY committee chairman who was not appointed was that for the civic affairs committee. He will be elected at the next meeting of the directors.

Other chairmen who were named this week were:

Membership — Helen Haslam and Bruce Howard.

PROGRAM—MRS. HASLAM.

Publicity — Philip Mittel, reappointed.

Finance and auditing — Lee Hink Jr.

Rezoning and directorships — Mittel and David Saenger.

Representative to the board of education—Saenger.

Representative to civic affairs committee—Kingston.

REPRESENTATIVE to the planning committee — Charles Dana.

Representative to the Diablo Highway Federation — John Cheney.

Time Extension For Contractor On Inland Valley

The Orinda Union School District board of trustees granted a 30-day extension to the contractor on the Inland Valley elementary school project recently completed and filed an official notice of completion on the new facility.

Contractor Fred Von Guenthner or Orinda asked for the time extension on the basis of an unexpected four-day rain and strikes in the steelworkers and stevedores unions.

Board members granted the extension after reading a statement from Charles Hemmings, assistant district attorney for civil matters, listing Von Guenthner's reasons for the delay as "justified."

The school, scheduled to be completed by November 23, was finished shortly before Christmas vacation and was fully occupied January 4.

Don't Delay Polio Shots, Says Doctor

"Contra Costans are cautioned not to delay immunization for polio vaccine in hopes that oral polio vaccine will soon be available," Dr. John Baier, assistant health officer, said.

He added that "oral vaccine is not yet available or approved and may not be for several years. Meanwhile polio is here now.

"In the United States cases of paralytic polio are occurring every day largely in unvaccinated or incompletely vaccinated persons. Salk vaccine is also here and in good supply for all persons,"

The first case of polio in Contra Costa County in 1959 occurred in an individual who put off getting a polio vaccination. Let's hope you won't become a statistic for the same reason in 1960.

No one should go without the polio protection that is available today. Four properly spaced injections are recommended for all persons. If you haven't completed your protection against polio see your physician or attend a health department immunization clinic now."

Girls to 'Hall'; Dad Arrested

Three little girls, ages 7, 4 and 3, were taken to the juvenile hall, when their father, Ray Lee Duschell of of San Francisco was arrested December 27 for being drunk in or about an automobile.

Trustees Study Purchasing of Altarinda Site

Trustees of the Orinda Union School District voted Monday night to begin negotiations for a possible elementary school site on the Altarinda properties north of the Crossroads.

The school board members instructed Superintendent of Schools Joseph Sheaff to contact Robert Spott, one of the Altarinda owners, regarding possible purchase of the site, and to discuss with the district attorney's office how negotiations should be handled.

ACTION ON THE Altarinda matter came after the school district's volunteer building site and planning committee reported it had reached agreement on an acceptable school site within the 187 acres of the Altarinda land.

Victor Kingston reported for the committee in the absence of Chairman Francis Tobias, and he pointed out that the group's preferred site is one of the five also recommended by the district's architect, James Anderson.

Kingston noted, however, that the area is not the one which was suggested some time ago by Spott as a possible school location. He said the committee's site is west of the one proposed by Spott.

THE CITE CONSISTS of 13.3 acres, which could be developed into eight usable acres for school purposes, and "it is about as level as we could get," Kingston reported.

He stated that the land proposed by Spott would not be acceptable as a school site because of a much higher grading cost and because of Pacific Gas and Electric Company rights-of-way for high power and high pressure gas lines.

The building site committee is made up of professional engineers residing in the district who volunteered to help the school board select feasible sites. Other members are Herbert Nilmeier, R. W. Roth and J. A. Felchlin.

KINGSTON REPORTED that the site selected by the committee would require the movement of about 193,000 cubic yards of dirt for a single-level site and about 187,000 cubic yards for a double-level site.

Movement of dirt varies in cost from 50 cents per yard to $1.10 per yard, he added.

The Spott proposal, he said, would require the movement of about 265,000 cubic yards of dirt for a single-level site.

Sheaff explained that a kindergarten through sixth grade school could be located on eight usable acres.

Adult Center Has Openings

The Acalanes Adult Center has a few openings in the following classes: advanced portrait art, Monday from 12:30-3:30 p.m. at the Walnut Creek Recreation Center, and bookkeeping, Tuesday from 7-10 p.m. at the Las Lomas High School.

Riding Area Primarily For Pasturing Horses

County officials this week rescinded their stop-work order on the riding stables and riding ring at Altarinda and are permitting work to go ahead because the development is to be "for personal use."

Tony DeHaesus of the county planning department reported the ban on work was lifted after he talked with Norman Geist of the Vine Hill area, who reportedly has employed the carpenters to work on the stables.

DeHaesus said Geist told him the stables and riding ring are being located on the Altarinda properties "primarily to create feed lot for horses and an area for pasturing and boarding of the animals."

THE COUNTY PLANNER ruled out the Orinda Association's claim that the stables and ring are to be part of a commercial venture, but, DeHaesus noted, "If it turns out that we're wrong, we'll take some action later."

Robert Spott, one of the owners of the 187-acre property, told The Sun last week that he and his partners leased the property to an unidentified Orindan, and that lessons and horse rentals would be provided at a cost.

Under county regulations governing the residential - agricultural zoning of the Altarinda properties, DeHaesus declared, the owners are allowed to have two horses per acre on the property if the activity is for personal use.

No land use permit or rezoning is necessary according to these regulations, he added.

Geist has agreed to obtain a county building permit for the construction of the temporary stables, according to the planning staffer.

Sleepy Hollow to Have Meeting

The Sleepy Hollow School Parents' Club will hold its first meeting of the year at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday in the multi-purpose room. The program will be "Sports and the Child."

He will discuss this in terms of ability, physical growth and the age when a child is ready for various sports and team participation. The Parents' Club Board encourages all parents to attend.

Newcomers Club Meets This Week

The first meeting of the year for the Orinda Newcomers will be held at the home of Mrs. Harry Polhamus, 19 Valley View Drive, Wednesday at noon.

There will be two guests, Mrs. C. E. Ericson of the American Field Service, who will talk about a new Orinda group, Friends of the Library, and Larry H. Blakesley of Lafayette, who will speak on home furnishings.

Anyone interested in the Newcomers Club may contact Mrs. Eugene Monroe, CL 4-0155.

Waldie Will Address Award Event

Assemblyman Jerome R. Waldie of the Tenth District will be the featured speaker at Orinda's annual Award Banquet, to be held Thursday evening at Mike Lynn's Orinda Willows, chairman Charles Legge announced this week.

Waldie, who was named "Freshman Legislator of the Year" by the Sacramento press corps last year, will speak on "You and Your Assemblyman."

THE DINNER will honor Ann Pollaczek, who was selected as the 1959 Orinda Woman of the Year, and winners of other community awards to be presented at the banquet by the Orinda Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Sponsorship of the annual event is under the cooperation of the Jaycees and The Sun. The Sun will present the Woman of the Year award to Mrs. Pollaczek.

Legge said dinner will begin at 7:30 p.m., preceded by a cocktail hour at 6:30 p.m. Tickets for the banquet, which is open to the public, are $4 each.

The chairman announced that tickets still may be obtained by sending a remittance and a self-addressed return envelope to the Jaycees, P. O. Box 168, Orinda, or by calling Bob Wale, CL 4-5019, or Eric Nielsen, CL 4-4284.

Inland Valley Is Officially Named

Orinda's newest school finally has its official name.

Trustees of the Orinda Union School District voted Monday night to name the kindergarten through sixth grade school which was completed last month the "Inland Valley Elementary School."

During the development of the site and the construction of the facility, the school had been referred to by that name, but no official action was taken by the board until this week.

A suggestion by School Superintendent Joseph Sheaff that the seventh and eighth grade school on which construction will begin next week be named the "Inland Valley Intermediate School" was tabled by the trustees.

Members of the school board agreed that a "more interesting" name might be found for the intermediate school, which is to be located on the same site as the new elementary school.

Flu Epidemic Expected in County

Unless Contra Costans are "very lucky," an epidemic outbreak of Asian Type A Flu will strike the county within the next few days, according to County Health Officer Dr. H. L. Blum.

Following a number of inquiries by The Sun regarding the possibility of a flu epidemic, the county health office stated that it fears it is inevitable for many Contra Costans to contract the flu virus.

WITH THE HEALTH department's announcement varied opinions on the effectivity of flu immunizations were voiced within the ranks of the medical profession.

Dr. Malcolm H. Merrill, state director of public health, urges the use of vaccine by pregnant women, older persons with chronic conditions and key personnel in health, welfare, police and fire protection.

Some doctors in the central county were prescribing flu shots for themselves, their families and patients, while the health department statement was keynoted with the sound of pessimism as to the effectivity of the innoculation.

The health department does not recommend vaccine for three reasons:

- It is too late.
- It is not effective.
- There is little vaccine available.

THE HEALTH department noted that the vaccine may be "used by risk cases," people who have serious heart and lung conditions and infants.

However, two small groups of county employees will receive immunizations: the personnel of the Juvenile Hall and the Contra Costa sheriff's department.

A central county pediatrician opined: "If you haven't been sick in recent weeks, then give vaccine a try." He commented that in his opinion there will not be enough vaccine to meet the demand and that it is too late for most people to use it at this time.

"As far as the epidemic is concerned, it isn't coming, it's been here for six weeks," he concluded.

Acalanes Coach Marries Lucy Ann Hupp in Orinda

Arrangements of chrysanthemums and liquidambar leaves in autumn colors decorated the sanctuary and narthex of the Orinda Community Church for the wedding of Lucy Ann Hupp to Rolfe Kenneth Williams II on November 25.

Lucy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Hupp of 15 Vallecito Lane, Orinda, was given in marriage by her father. The Reverend Chauncey E. Blossom performed the ceremony.

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown of cream colored French silk brocade of ballerina length with a veil of silk net and a French lace cap.

She carried a bouquet of white spider chrysanthemums and artificial green grapes.

The bridal attendant's were Lucy's sister, Laurie Hupp and Patricia Whitehead of Lafayette. They were gowned in sheath dresses of cafe au lait peau de soie with overskirts of herb green silk organza. Their flowers were bronze chrysanthemums and green grapes.

Mrs. Hupp selected a dress of dark green sheer wool for her daughter's wedding and wore a corsage of bronze chrysanthemums. Mrs. R. K. Williams, mother of the groom wore a gray silk gown and a corsage of green chrysanthemums.

Bert Trulsson of Walnut Creek stood with the groom and the ushers were David Hupp, brother of the bride, Gary Lawrence and Mike Elvidge of Orinda and Walt Williams of Walnut Creek.

The wedding party greeted the 500 guests in the narthex of the church. After this a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for 100 relatives and out of town guests.

The couple who honeymooned in Carmel are now at home at 3478 Springs Road, Lafayette.

The bride graduated from Acalanes High School and is continuing her studies at the University of California.

The benedict is also an Acalanes grad and a graduate of the College of Pacific where he was active in football and dramatics. He is currently a football coach and Spanish teacher at Acalanes.

Local Delta Gamma Alumnae are planning an important meeting about mid January at the home of Mrs. Recce Cave, 10 Westwood Court, Orinda. They are anticipating a visit from one of their National Officers at this time.

Lombardy Bridge Classes

On the eve of her departure for a holiday in the Islands, Mrs. Field. publicity chairman of Lombardy Branch of the Baby Hospital, phoned to remind us of the series of bridge lessons being sponsored by that energetic group. The lessons will be held on Mondays at the Orinda Community Church, commencing Jan. 18.

Joyce and Alex Poulson of Sleepy Hollow in Orinda left last Saturday for a pleasure trip to New York. They are jetting both ways.

Plan Jet Trip

Also planning a jet trip is Louise Galbraith of Charles Hill Circle in Orinda. Louise is emplaning for Tasmania early in April to visit her daughter Jean and her young granddaughter. Jean's husband is an exchange high school teacher in that far off land.

Good news from the Southland that Mr. & Mrs. Chester Pyle are recovered from their recent serious injuries incurred in an auto crash. Chester & Myrtle were long time Orinda residents before his recent transfer to San Bernardino. He is an executive with the J. C. Penney Co.

The BIG LET DOWN after the holidays has bereft us of much Social Doin's, so this week your reporter would like to tell her readers a little about another volunteer activity in the East Bay area. The project to be benefitted is Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc.

Guide Dogs for Blind

Several years ago a few groups of twelve women organized for the express purpose of raising funds to help in the purchase of Guide Dogs for the blind people in this country. These specially bred and trained dogs and the ones who are to be their masters or mistresses, are trained as a working team at the school in San Rafael.

This training takes a month and costs the blind nothing but their transportation to and from the school. But the cost of the blooded dogs and the maintenance of the school is a considerable item. These women met once a month for luncheon and bridge or sewing or what have you, and pay one dollar a month apiece.

Each chapter originally was assigned the name of one of the breeds used as guide dogs. One of the first groups was the Boxers, most of whom were golfing pals at Orinda Country Club. Mrs. Jerry Walker who is now commencing her second year as secretary of Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc., organized this group in November, 1953.

So these girls are now in their seventh year together and surprisingly, never lost one of the original members until last year, when Mrs. George Parker moved to Carmel.

Included in the Boxers are: Mesdames B. F. Brunk, J. H. Cadien, J. C. Folliard, G. J. Good, M. C. Green, A. P. O'Kane, Budd Reininghouse, J. W. Scammell, R. N. Slingerland, Paul Wyle and Jerry Walker.

In June, 1958, Mrs. Walker organized a second chapter in Orinda which includes the Mesdames S. V. Campbell, J. Christensen, Ed Dorresten, William Everts, Jack Bottomley, Thornton Grimes, J. M. Jacobus, Jeffress Rodwell, Lloyd Rowley, Arthur Pedersen, Jerry Walker and W. W. Wilson.

Another chapter of eight women was organized in May, 1958, by Mrs. J. H. Cadien, herself one of the Boxers. These are Oakland residents and include the Mesdames G. S. Borden, J. H. Cadien, R. A. Conyes, J. P. Hildreth, M. Lasher, W. Owen, H. Plath and J. Maxfield. There are now ten working groups in the East Bay.

Organize New Chapter

How about getting together another chapter or so in Walnut Creek or Lafayette? I am sure that Mrs. Jerry Walker would be only too glad to render her capable assistance in helping you to get started.

To those of you who are interested in the S. F. Symphony Orchestra Concerts, the Behind The Hills series is again being offered by the Symphony Association.

This includes four tickets on Friday afternoons and bus transportation to and from Walnut Creek, Lafayette and Orinda, direct to the Opera House. Better get your reservations in soon. Call Mrs. S. V. Campbell of 329 Camino Sobrante.

Almona Chapter Meets Saturday

Kennys See Parade

Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Kenney, Sr., of 731 Rosewood Drive, Walnut Creek were among the thousands of people who were present to view the seventy-first annual Tournament of Roses parade in Pasadena on New Year's Day.

They toured Los Angeles and Hollywood and attended the Lawrence Welk program on TV on Saturday night, January 2 and met the maestro, Mr. Welk.

The Kenneys lived in Alameda for many years before moving to Walnut Creek 10 years ago.

CARMEL WAS the honeymoon destination for Mr. and Mrs. Rolfe Kenneth Williams II, shown leaving the Orinda Community Church immediately following their November 25 wedding. They are now at home at 3478 Echo Springs Road, Lafayette.

Honolulu Honeymoon Spot For Justwed Robert Deans

Sylvia Susan Parker became the bride of Robert Stewart Dean on January 2 at the San Ramon Valley Congregational Church.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Reilly Parker of 950 Forest Lane, Alamo and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Luther Dean of West Covina.

The bride chose a chapel length gown of chantilly lace over taffeta for her wedding. The bouffant five-tiered skirt was attached to a fitted long sleeved bodice topped with a soberna neckline. Her veil was elbow length attached to a chantilly lace crown trimmed with sequins and pearls.

She carried a bouquet of pale pink roses, white roses, with center orchid and stephanotis.

The maid of honor, Sandra Ragusa, wore a chapel length gown of rose pink taffeta with bouffant skirt. Her headdress was pink trimmed with pearls, and she carried a bouquet of roses, carnations and stephanotis.

Nancy B. Parker of Alamo was the bridesmaid whose gown was the same as the maid of honor.

Mrs. Parker selected an ice-blue brocade dress with hat to match and Mrs. Dean wore a gown of aqua chiffon with hat to match. Both mothers wore orchid corsages.

Bruce McMaster of Los Angeles was the groom's best man and the ushers were William G. Parker of Alamo and Richard E. Blunden of Alameda.

Dr. Michel A. Vallon performed the marriage ceremony and the bride was given in marriage by her father. Ann Williams of Alamo was the flower girl.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Later, a smaller reception was held at the Clipper Club Room, San Francisco International Airport.

The couple honeymooned in Hawaii.

Garden Club Service Project

The December meeting of the Walnut Creek Garden Club was a Christmas luncheon held at the home of Mrs. Philip Simmons, with Mrs. Charles Aiman and Mrs. Tonder Strand as cohostesses.

The home was decorated with original decorations.

Each member brought an idea for Christmas decorations on gifts, which formed a most interesting and instructive program.

As a special community service project, the group had gathered at an earlier meeting to assemble miniature gardens, which were taken to the wards of the County Hospital in Martinez. The making and receiving of these items proved so gratifying that it was decided to make some special service endeavor an annual affair.

Meet Mrs. Paul Jacobus - The Sun's Outstanding Woman of the Week

Interest in Youngsters Leads to Many Things

Meet Mrs. Paul Jacobus of 182 Circle Drive, Walnut Creek, whose eleven years in this area have been dedicated to serving youth.

A member of the Parents' Advisory Group established by Leland Russell at Las Lomas High School, she says, "I have always had a feeling of great respect for our responsibility as parents for the educational program of our youngsters."

"Dee" Jacobus has extended her personal area of responsibility to many youth groups and civic activities, but never at a cost to her own family.

Family participation in leisure time and on vacations is part of the Jacobus way of life. With husband Paul and their children Ann and Tom, she enjoys traveling, both long and short trips.

The family plans the trips together and they usually include one or more of their favorite leisure activities which are fishing, swimming, rock hunting, shell collecting, sightseeing and all outdoor sports.

Mrs. Jacobus said she enjoys cooking, and added that she "loves all family life from the kitchen to the youngsters." Her family delights in one of her specialties, Beef Stroganoff.

As a mother, Mrs. Jacobus maintains a flexible mind regarding her son and daughter's future education. Both are now students at Las Lomas looking forward to college.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Jacobus think that parents should not exert pressure, but should let their children have complete freedom of choice of profession, believing that academic patterns will establish the direction their lives will take.

Their chief concern is to give their youngsters every opportunity for the best education that they will need both academically and to be good citizens.

A lady who says, "Any parent needs to give a bit of themselves, one becomes extremely rich in association with other people" Dee Jacobus must be a multi-millionaire.

She helped to establish the Girl Scout Camp at Sierra Woodlands and served on the Diablo Valley Girl Scout Council. She also helped the council of the Tri-Hi-Yi at Las Lomas when her daughter was a freshman.

The rumpus room of the Jacobus home was used as a meeting place for the Cub Scouts for three years and Mrs. Jacobus has helped the Boy Scouts raise funds prior to their belonging to the United Crusade.

Director of the youth concert board for three years, she recently completed a term as their public relations chairman. One of the first to step forward for civil defense, she served as a sector warden and with others did the "pioneering ground work, took courses and interested others."

She also has served on the Walnut Creek Recreation Commission, Red Cross, is an associate member of the Linnet Group of the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center, and is currently working as chairman of the by-laws committee for the Wa-Wona Guild of the John Muir Hospital.

No wonder she said, "I had been planning to make this a sabbatical year for in the 11 years we've been in Walnut Creek we've never completed unpacking!"

Chairman for two years of the citizens' advisory council she did much to generate public interest in learning basic facts about the needs of the school and to become cognizant of these needs.

A graduate of the University of Nebraska and the Johns Hopkins Training School, Dee Jacobus worked as supervisor at the Shrine Hospital, as chief nurse at Camp Callam, San Diego, prior to her marriage to Paul Jacobus. Paul is a CPA with offices in San Francisco.

A lady who feels that the "social" part of her life can come later, her interests now are entirely in the fields of youth and community service.

She says, "Awareness to good citizenship and community responsibility begins very early. I am grateful to my mother and father for stressing the importance of every family sharing its part whether it was PTA, church or civic work.

"As an adult and parent today I have a great deal of faith in our youth. If we take the time to give them proper guidance, leadership, and the experience in making decisions they will do an excellent job of carrying on our fine American traditions.

"I have great admiration for youngsters today."

Huge Capital Outlay Plan Outlined by Administrator

Contra Costa's Board of Supervisors was handed a proposed program for financing some $28,670,000 in improvements Tuesday by County Administrator J. P. McBrien.

The program covers $17,521,000 in highway construction, $3,696,000 for office buildings; $2,234,000 for institutional buildings and $3,226,000 for other improvement needs—mainly park land acquisition.

A "pay as you go" plan is suggested for the bulk of the building program, $22,617,000; lease-purchase and bond issue for the remainder of the program.

McBRIEN'S REPORT concludes a four-part study of capital improvement needs of the county. Previous studies dealt with the needs for office buildings, institutional buildings and other improvements and highways.

The lion's share of the capital improvement budget, $17,521,000, will go into highways. The amount provided for highway construction during the next five years is in proportion to the sum allowed for the 1959-60 fiscal year.

Highway requirements are of such magnitude, according to the report, that they are of necessity fixed in terms of "ability to pay" rather than "need."

The report estimates county highway needs by 1980 will reach a total of $265,000,000 and suggests bond financing for highway needs may be necessary.

THE ENTIRE report is based on projections of county growth in population from about 400,000 in 1960 to near 800,000 in 1980.

Lease financing is suggested for $3,460,000 in capital improvement in the five-year program including the $1,500,000 Pleasant Hill Central library and office building; an additional county hospital ward, addition to the county administration building and library buildings within various service areas.

The latter are purchased out of service area tax money. Lease arrangements have already been approved for the Pleasant Hill building.

BOND FINANCING in the amount of $2,600,000 is suggested for park land acquisition.

Creation of a county building fund for the pay as you go projects, establishment of a six-year capital improvement budget and changes in budgeting procedure are suggested to implement the program.

Other office buildings proposed under the five-year plan include a service center building for agricultural agencies, $750,000, and remodeling and alterations of present buildings, $330,000.

Proposed institutional buildings in addition to the county hospital ward include a Richmond outpatient clinic, expansion of the boy's rehabilitation center at Byron, construction of a girls' rahabilitation center.

Burglary Spree Admitted by 2 Teenage Boys

Two boys have admitted a burglary spree in the central county area, according to reports of the Contra Costa sheriff's office.

The two, 16 and 17 years of age, are being held in the Juvenile Hall, reports state.

According to Lieutenant Walter Trawick, head of the detective division, the youths confessed to nine recent burglaries in the Pleasant Hill, Walnut Creek and Danville areas.

Alerted by a sheriff's office broadcast about a pre-dawn burglary at Paddock Bowl, Pacheco, Concord police nabbed the teenagers in their car on Willow Pass Road at 6:30 a.m.

After questioning them, the Concord police turned them over to the sheriff's office.

Detective Earl Falkenstrom and sheriff's deputy Glen Porter questioned the youths again. The boys admitted staging the following crimes during December:

Pleasant Hill—Theft of more than $50 from a paint and linoleum store, break-in at a hardware store, attempted entry at a doughnut shop and a variety store.

Walnut Creek area — Theft of money at a restaurant.

Danville area—Theft of $50 in cash and four antique guns worth $180 from a men's clothing store, theft of merchandise at a gift shop and attempted entry at a cleaning establishment and a women's dress shop.

Trawick said the youths previously admitted burglarizing Paddock Bowl. They also admitted to Concord police that they illegally entered a mower shop in Alameda County.

General Plan Is Gaining

A preliminary study session on Walnut Creek's long planned and awaited General Plan, will be held February 1 by the City Planning Commission.

Fred Barber, consultant, is expected to attend. Lester Foley, city planning director, will provide background and information.

Presiding Judge Sends PH Forger To State Prison

Superior Judge Thomas F. Fraga sentenced Wallace Frank Ranard, 40, of 54 Boyd Road, Pleasant Hill, to state prison Tuesday on bad check charges.

Ranard, a Walnut Creek coc-, surrendered himself last December 10 after going on a September check writing spree. He admitted passing four forged checks, totaling $57.29, in Pleasant Hill and Danville.

Ranard served time in Nevada state prison for forgery in 1942 and in San Quentin for passing bad checks in 1952 in Sonoma County.

School Work Hits Adults: Horizontal or Status Quo?

This is the second time that this editorial has been written.

Saturday we wrote an editorial offering an unqualified endorsement of the overall consolidation of the six school districts now located within the boundaries of the Acalanes High School District.

This is otherwise known as "horizontal unification."

Our second choice was that the status quo be maintained with vertical unification being our third choice, although hardly worth consideration.

Vertical unification would entail the formation of separate school districts incorporating the high schools and grade schools in a given area. For example, Lafayette School District would assimilate Acalanes High School and become one district offering education from kindergarten through the 12th grade.

But since this editorial was written the first time, additional meetings have been held by the various school boards, and more meetings are to come.

Presumably the question of whether or not to unify at all, or how to unify if such is the decision, will come to a vote next Wednesday when the County Reorganization Committee meets.

If we were to vote today, we would vote as indicated above. However, we face the same problems as do the members of the committee, and probably as face the public in general.

We are not certain that horizontal unification is better than the status quo. We feel quite certain, however, that vertical unification would provide a poor answer to our problems.

If horizontal unification is adopted, The Sun certainly would recommend the establishment of a ward system for the selection of trustees and the establishment of a seven-man board of trustees.

Those who favor the "vertical" admit that the horizontal also can provide for a smooth transition, curriculum-wise, from elementary to high school, but they argue against "size."

An example of fact that size does not necessarily negate local control or make board members insensitive to public desires is next door—the Mt. Diablo Unified School District.

The wide range of its specialized services, the high-quality curriculum and its generally lower total tax rate should be examined by those who will some day cast their votes for or against unification.

IT HAS BEEN pointed out that without the present arrangement where many Lafayette high school age boys and girls attend Del Valle High in Walnut Creek, Lafayette would need another new high school RIGHT NOW.

With the Chinese walls erected under the Vertical system, a district with a much smaller assessed valuation base would have to undertake an enormous financial burden in constructing a new high school. And when built, that school would be either too small for future population growth, or too large and inefficient administratively, since boundaries could not be shifted bringing in outlying areas.

The Orinda School District would have a similar problem under the "vertical" in the near future, as would Walnut Creek.

THE COUNTY reorganization Committee's studies indicate that the overall tax rate under total unification might be lower, but not a great deal lower. The important point is that a "total" approach may not save a lot of money, but it would get more for your money.

The sub-committees which studied the matter several times referred to what they felt were disadvantages of size, but did not delve into the obvious advantages from size which accrues to the Acalanes District.

The strongest statement favoring overall unification came from the Special Services committee, which called the breaking up of this system into smaller systems "a step backward", referring to the problem of bus service, and "dead-heading" at the new boundaries.

The Mt. Diablo Unified District in 1959-60 levied a $3.39 operating tax, and $4.29 total tax. But here are the taxes levied by the Acalanes District ($2.27), combined with those of the elementary districts: Acalanes and Walnut Creek — $4.95; Acalanes and Lafayette — $5.11; Acalanes and Orinda — $4.97; Acalanes and Canyon — $4.21; Acalanes and Moraga — $4.59.

Strong Approach Needed

Nearly a year has been spent studying the various types of school district unification in the Acalanes District, and we recommend that the County School Reorganization Committee take a vote when it meets Wednesday.

Even if such a vote is a "preliminary vote," or a "tentative" vote, or a "poll"—call it what you will—it should be taken.

The committee should vote, first, on whether to unify at all or to maintain the status quo.

Then, with this question decided, if the decision is to unify, the committee should vote on horizontal versus vertical unification. (See editorial above for explanation of these terms).

THIS WAY, there would be two separate and distinct answers to these questions, and a great deal of confusion could be avoided.

Some clear cut decisions should be made and then, if the committeemen feel slightly confused—even as we do—they could continue the study for a specific period of time.

But if this is done, a definite deadline should be set—say four to six months—at which time a final and definite vote would be taken and the recommendations made.

These could then be forwarded to the state (this must be done anyway by 1963).

THIS STUDY, if undertaken, could be a continuation of the work by the present committee, possibly including a report from the professional educators involved—that is, the superintendents of the various school districts involved.

Certainly answers should be sought from them, and to date, this has not been done.

Another possibility is that the study could be conducted by an outside agency such as the Stanford Research Institute. In this case each school district could contribute its equitable share of the cost as determined by some common factor such as average daily attendance.

HOWEVER, THIS should not be an excuse to delay the issue and postpone a decision. We can't wait, for instance, for the passage of special legislation in Sacramento which would enable the state to pay the costs of such a study.

After such a study, and if the unification vote is favorable, then action should be taken to accomplish unification by the school year of 1962-63, or possibly even 1961-62.

But a decision has to be made, because the state has required that a unification plan be submitted by 1963. Therefore any measures taken to delay a decision involve just so much wasted time.

"How could that catty remark bother me so?"

When your mind's upset, your car may be too! Your thoughts can't be in two places at once. At the wheel, there's only one safe place for them—on your driving. 37,000 Americans died on our highways last year; 37 times that many were injured. The tragic toll might have been far less if every driver remembered this: a thinking driver is a safe driver . . . when his thoughts are concentrated on driving!

Where traffic laws are obeyed and enforced, deaths go DOWN!

We Like It Here . . .

In January, a Sanctuary & No Place Like Home...

By MARIE MONAHAN

JANUARY! To me it's like a Sanctuary—within the walls of home—

From which I do not wish to roam.
First month of year—a time for things to fall back into place—
(While I fall quietly upon my face!)
Surrounded by the things I love the best—
THESE satisfy—so here at home I rest.

Renewing strength to face another year—of happy, hectic life I hold so dear.

JANUARY: I'm happy in my sanctuary.

You can nudge me, you won't BUDGE me from this hearth—the warmest, safest place in all the earth—

(WHERE marshmallows get toasted, nuts are cracked & wood's unsacked—Corn is popped & hot dogs roasted.)

YEAR so new in January. Time for inventory, taking stock or sit & knit or mend a sock or gaze from window at the view (we MIGHT discover something NEW!)

To Lull, mull over & remember—re-reading cards that came in rushed December.

SO PARDON us if we eschew the lunches
& do not now pursue the social gathering of bunches—
It was a Ball & lots of fun, but after all, we're In, we're DONE!

IT'S JANUARY! Time to plan, evaluate—meditate, anticipate

To just relax & play the sax—or browse the shelves for book unread
Or straighten box of tangled thread
Or play new record "Gypsy" with Ethel Merman—
Or Inside or Outside Shelley Berman.
Or sit at piano & plunk out a tune—that Rodgers & Hart one, an oldie—"Blue Moon"—
While the Dog on the rug ogles the cat.
The cat sleekly furred
Hard & hypnotically stares at the Bird
I apprehend or jump up to defend—Say, Look friend, we're in this together—Our home that's our sanctuary in stormy wet weather!

(It's raining Cats & Dogs, they used to say—but that was Way Back When—another time, another day.)

IN JANUARY, my kitchen is a perfect sanctuary.
While tea kettle sings, the telephone rings & KABL plays "Some of my favorite things" . . .
We might make a Mousse—or cook our own Goose—
Or try Bouillabaise—or homemade mayonnaise—
Or vigorously suddenly start to clean hoose!
We might even paint—or SING, all alone
Or practice our lesson on the new Baritone—
DUST if we must, but we'll do it to rhythm—with Sinatra's new album, we'll REALLY get with 'im . . .

We'll practice ballet—while we vacuum away & friends who drop by for a little yak-yak will be treated to tea with a delicate snack.

Then before children are home & there at the door
We'll have warm cookies waiting
We'll have ironed & cleaned out a drawer—
For this is the month that NOTHING'S a bore. (In fact, we could do without trips to the store.)
IT'S JANUARY.
We're simply content at home in our sanctuary.

Letters to The Editor

WATER ELECTION

Dear Editor:

Though somewhat belated I would like to take this opportunity, on behalf of the Committee for Cheaper Water, to thank your paper for the fine coverage that it gave to the recent Water Bond election.

We have concluded the activities of this committee with payment of the final bills involved in the campaign. You might be interested in a rough summary of the activities involved in the campaign itself.

1. The committee supplied speakers for 40 to 50 appearances.
2. 18,500 address stickers were typed.
3. One mailing of 18,500 pieces was completed.
4. A second special mailing of 4,000 pieces was completed.
5. A door-to-door delivery of an information piece was conducted and it is estimated that 75% of the homes in the area were contacted.
6. A fourth piece of literature was distributed in parking lots throughout the area with the result that approximately 8,000 pieces of literature were distributed in this manner.
7. A fairly comprehensive fact sheet was prepared and distributed to over 200 active workers of the campaign.
8. A sound truck was active on election day.
9. On election day telephone service was provided to answer questions and to provide transportation to the polls for those who needed it.

We feel that the happy result achieved was partly due to the foregoing activities, but certainly the conscientious effort of the press to present the facts to the people played a major part in the result, and once again for this, let us take this opportunity to thank you.

COMMITTEE FOR CHEAPER WATER
By: Warren Boggess, Craig Donovan and Richard Randall.

Dear Editor:

I am residing in the Netherlands for the period July, 1959-July, 1960 with my family. We enjoy greatly the news from our home, since it enables us to keep up on community affairs even though we cannot participate from this distance.

We also enjoy comparing the manner and context of the advertisements in The Sun with those published in England. The ads and local notices have many similarities, but there is little crusading or criticism of public officials in the papers here.

There also is, it appears, a corresponding lack of attentiveness to the wishes of the local populace.

If you will send the weekly issues of The Sun to my Emeryville office, I will receive them promptly.

JOHN H. RALEY

Under The Sun

I Promised Not to Write About It, So I Won't

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

I promised myself NOT to write anything about unification of our school districts in this week's column. However, I am going to break that promise for a few paragraphs.

So much has already been written in today's Sun about unification that you may be tired of the subject. The Sun has devoted an entire front page and two editorials on this page to unification.

But I do wish to stress that the possible unification of six school districts is a very vital subject to you. If you have children in school or pre-school children, then, of course, you should be most interested.

Look to your wasted pocketbook!

If you have no children or your children are out of school, you too are affected — because unification can very well affect your tax bill — and the future of your community and your country.

Please take an extra few minutes and study this problem. It is a tough problem. The issues are not clear cut; the solutions are difficult to find.

Note the top editorial on this page. We had editorial conferences last week to arrive at a definite editorial position. Saturday we decided to support total unification of the six districts (horizontal) as our no. 1 choice, with status quo as our second choice, and "vertical unification" as a poor third.

The staff attended more meetings Monday and Wednesday nights and then decided that we could not give an unqualified endorsement of horizontal over status quo. Nevertheless, this problem cannot drag on indefinitely; some deadlines should be set. (See second editorial.)

Here's a real investment

"Hey, boss, you said you weren't going to give us a sermon on unification," mewed Snoopy, the office cat.

Okay, Snoopy, I'm sorry . . . you see, I get carried away. I'll stop right now and talk about something else.

The Boy Scouts of America has just published a new handbook. It is magnificent. My scout Dan just bought one, so I got an idea. The handbooks, old or new, are packed with information that should be available to every family with children.

It is an excellent guide for first aid, camping, health, cooking, animal and bird lore, nature study — etc., etc., for many thousand etcs.

The handbook costs a dollar plus tax. I just called one of the stores that sells Boy Scout stuff and the salesperson said that the handbook is available to anyone, even if not a scout. Let me suggest that a dollar spent on a handbook is an excellent investment.

Censorship of radio and TV?

Let's talk about the proposal that the government should in some way regulate or control radio and TV programs. This is very dangerous. I agree that radio and TV have not faced up to their responsibilities, that their programs are often poor, that rigged shows and payola are to be abhored.

Nevertheless, we never want to see the day when we permit government to censor media of communication. Radio and TV should immediately clean their own houses. They are starting to but they must do a thorough job. You and I must help by demanding good programs and serving as a censor.

It would be interesting to take a survey in our town to learn how many hours per week your family and mine watch TV.

What do you think?

Real Estate and Mysteries Compete in Richardson Day

By JEAN JERNIGAN

"Give me land, lots of land" might well be the theme song of Ken Richardson, who at 44 is sitting on top of the world.

Owner of K/R Homes, Real Estate Consultant, Certified Property Manager, the world is really his oyster.

KEN'S CLIMB to the top in his profession was natural for his grandfather, A. F. Bartholomew was a land subdivider back in 1919 at Lake Fon du Lac, Wisconsin, and his dad started in the business in Alameda in 1926.

For a man whose leisure time now is spent doing as little as possible, he says "absolutely nothing," his youth was one big race with time. He skipped grades two and three, graduated from high school at 15 and from the University of California at 19.

Not only did he graduate at 19, but accomplished this feat despite the fact he worked too, during his four years at Cal. He worked as a real estate salesman for his father and was taken into full partnership with him in 1936 upon his graduation.

CONSTANTLY TRYING to improve the real estate business, Richardson has given many talks and done considerable research on what makes salesmen sell.

His book, "Care and Feeding of Salesmen" has been published nationally.

He says he "got the bug" for selling new houses in 1937 and worked for David D. Bohannon on his Oak Knoll subdivision. Then Richardson did a series of small subs in Alameda through 1941 when the Navy tapped him for a four-year tour.

Once freed from Uncle Sam, he started his own business in Oakland selling and developing apartment houses. From then on it was a steady rise up for this enterprising individual.

Richardson started this side of the tunnel in 1947 with the Sun Valley Estates and currently has four subdivisions going, one in Pleasant Hill and three in Concord.

READING PAPERBACK mysteries is one form of relaxation for this busy man, and he has a unique reading method. His bed room walls have bookshelves, the top shelf of this four wall bookcase is packed with who-dun-its. Richardson starts at one corner, reads his way around the room, by the time he is back to the first book it is once again new and exciting.

Married to the former Margaret Gripon, Richardson lives in Diablo with his wife and children Ann, 18, Robin 14 and Lee, 8. His son Larry is married and has one son named after his grandfather.

The Staff Corner

It Was a Long Wait, But We Made It . . .

By NORMAN COLBY

Our four-year-old son's birthday is April 25, and already he has informed us just what he wants — a large grader which he calls a tractor, and which costs $3.98.

It is a long time to April 25, but he has had good experience in the technique of waiting — and waiting.

The day after Thanksgiving we reminded him that Santa might not come if he were a bad boy.

THIS KEPT HIM QUIET, and content to daydream about the piles and piles of toys which were on the way. "Santa's comin'," he would say, from time to time, breaking out of a prolongued reverie.

Our four-year-old was confident Santa's arrival would be "tomorrow" or "pretty soon."

He sat on Santa's knee at Capwell's, and we carefully made notes on his desired "pinano", also dump truck and bicycle. He had talked to the REAL SANTA, and Christmas was just around the corner!

But as the subsequent days and weeks rolled by, and still only promises of the magic day, he gradually became diffident. Dozens of Santas continually hailed him from street corners and display windows, until the "Ho! Ho! Ho!" ceased to thrill.

EVEN THE DREAM OF presents turned sour. Threats that Santa wouldn't visit his house if he were bad began to lose their effect.

He would turn upon us defiantly, and announce, "Santa's not coming! He's not coming at all!"

We assured him it's only four weeks to go, then only three weeks, two weeks, one week. But "three weeks" could mean three minutes or three years to a four-year-old.

We bought the tree. This was a tangible thing, and he brightened. His greetings at the end of the day sounded like "Merry Christmas!" He laughed at his own cleverness and originality.

HE STOLE SOME cookies from the cupboard, and put them on the lamp table with some milk, so Santa would not go hungry. But the cookies had date centers, and had to be thrown out.

We learned Santa was holding court at the Recreation Center, December 12, and this seemed like the perfect opportunity to renew our child's again flagging interest. Telling him he would see Santa in a few minutes, we forgot an important thing.

He did not remember the previous Christmas, or the "standard operating procedure." We had given him the idea that THIS at last was the thing for which he had been waiting so long. This wasn't just another morning—it was Christmas!

WHILE THE OTHER boys and girls gleefully skipped off the stage with little gifts in hand, our boy wandered aimlessly away from the stairs, and we had to steer him aright.

His eyes were wide with tears, and he looked down at the tiny spinner top in one hand, and the miniature candy cane in the other. "Where's my dump truck?" he asked, brokenly.

This was an emergency, and I had the good sense to realize it.

I hauled him off to a corner of the building, alone, and tapping his tiny chest, I explained in no uncertain terms that this was NOT yet Christmas, Santa WILL come, and he WILL get his dump truck, bicycle and piano.

Santa finally did come. It happened to be Mark's morning to sleep late. We had to wake him up, and prod him out of bed. "It's Christmas!" we shouted, but his look of doubt wasn't dispelled until he saw the packages.

Then I remember something. I was about to speak out, but for some reason waited until he had finished opening all the packages — and the piano, dump truck, bicycle and other toys were spread before him.

Then I couldn't resist reminding him —"Son, you forgot to leave the cookies for Santa last night."

His radiant smile faded. He began to cry. It didn't help much to say Santa will be back next year. He knows that's a long time off.

Your Garden

All Magnolia Trees Have Important Showy Features

Showy is the word for magnolias. It applies to the magnificent evergreen southern magnolia, the brilliant deciduous saucer magnolia or the delightful little star magnolia. If you've grown them, you know what we mean.

The sheer opulence of southern magnolia is familiar to all gardeners. Its glossy foliage and fragrant creamy bloom — seven and eight inches across — lend grace to the garden with enough room to handle it. In recent years, however, its place is being taken in small gardens by the similar St. Mary magnolia.

ST. MARY MAGNOLIA has the double advantage of being slower and more compact in growth plus blooming earlier in its life. The foliage is a deep, glossy green in top, accented by rust brown coloring underneath. The blooms, when they come, are platter size —10 or more inches across when fully opened.

There are literally dozens of deciduous magnolias in the world, and many of them have been tried in California. Fortunately, the California Association of Nurserymen has narrowed the list for us to those which do best in our climate.

Most widely planted are saucer magnolias — those lovely show pieces of late winter or early spring — which burst forth in a riot of tulip-like blooms before the leaves come. They make large shrubs or small trees, ideal for small gardens, since they never crowd. Color ranges from white through all shades of purple.

There are many other deciduous magnolias—more of them in northern than in southern California.

Acalanes Trustees Adopt Summer School Program

On the basis of a survey of student interest in summer school offerings, Acalanes High School District trustees this week approved organization of a summer school program for students of the district. The summer session will run for six weeks, from June 20 to July 29.

School officials estimate an enrollment in the summer program of in excess of 500 pupils. Acalanes district students interested in summer school work have previously attended programs in the Mt. Diablo and Oakland school systems.

ACCORDING TO Acalanes District Superintendent Neil M. Parsons, the summer program will enable students to "improve their grades for college entrance requirements and provide an opportunity for those interested to take additional courses on the secondary level."

A preliminary study on the summer program organization is being directed by Dr. Max Appleby, assistant superintendent for education in the Acalanes district.

Trustees this week also discussed enlarging the attendance boundaries for Del Valle High School by including the Merriewood and Burton elementary areas in the Del Valle attendance boundary.

AFTER A DISCUSSION with interested parents who attended the board meeting, trustees stated that the board would consider any alternate plan that any parent might have prior to reaching a decision on the attendance shift. Plans should be submitted through the district administration. A final decision is set for the first board meeting in February.

The shift in attendance area is required to keep enrollment at Acalanes High School within suitable limits.

Trustees heard a report by Superintendent Parsons on a possible district "pilot" summer work-education program at Miramonte High School this year. Under the proposal the district would take over the job done last year by Orinda Rotary in placing students in summer occupations where they could learn more about specific vocations of interest to them. Trustees postponed action until further study.

BOARD APPROVAL was given to proceed with plans for additions at Del Valle and Miramonte High Schools and development of master planning on the district site in the Rheem area. The additions, a multi-use room and shops at Del Valle, and classrooms at Miramonte, would be completed by the fall of 1961.

In other action trustees:

Defined an emergency absence policy for employees of the district; established a new salary schedule for the district transportation dispatcher; approved renting an additional room for church use at Miramonte, acceptance of a gasoline contract with the county and the leasing of a room at the Lafayette Veterans Building

Mel Whelan Is President of Valley Chamber

Mel Whelan has been elected president of the newly incorporated San Ramon Valley Chamber of Commerce, it was announced.

He and other officers will be installed Thursday night at 7:30 in Montair School.

Dr. Ezra Clark is vice president, George Studley, secretary, and Malcolm Short, treasurer.

Dramatic Picture of Commuter Life In Five Years Unveiled in Report

A dramatic picture of the metropolitan commuter of five years from now has been unveiled in San Francisco.

He will ride in swift, atractive and comfortable trains powered by electricity from either hydro-electric or atomic power sources.

HIS TRAINS will be programmed by an electronic computer which will dispatch and control all trains.

HE WILL PAY for his ride by cash or by a credit card which will make possible "ride now . . . pay later" transportation.

He will speed to destinations in the counties of the San Francisco Bay Area on either a suspended transport him both over and under the waters of San Fran- or supported rail system. It will cisco Bay . . . carry him beneath the congested downtown areas in modern subways . . . and route him in some places along the median strip of modern new freeways.

These are the highlights of a lengthy report given to the board of directors of the five-county Bay Area Rapid Transit District. The interim report was made by consulting engineers to the district.

THE FIVE-COUNTY transit district was created two years ago by the California legislature to develop engineering and financing plans for regional rapid transit. The plans must be approved by both the county boards of supervisors and the voters at a bond election now scheduled for November of this year.

Reports delivered so far to the district board embrace:

- Routing and station locations now being planned in the various counties.
- The trans-bay underwater tube which would be the "hub" of the system.

The transit equipment which will carry patrons.

Type of propulsion system which will govern all train operations.

PRELIMINARY FIRST-STAGE routings for the system have been made public in four of the five counties of the district, directors were told. Plans for San Francisco county will be turned over to the city's technical experts in the near future, according to Chief Engineer Keneth M. Hoover.

There would be about 125 miles of rapid transit routings on surface, aerial and subway levels. On the eastern side of the bay, routings would run in three directions to serve suburban areas of Contra Costa and Alameda counties, as well as the metropolitan centers of Oakland and Berkeley.

On the San Francisco side, the routings would pass through the city over the existing Golden Gate Bridge to serve Marin county in the north, and also down the San Francisco peninsula to serve San Mateo county in the south.

PRELIMINARY work already has begun on the four-mile underwater trans-bay tube. Such a rapid transit tube would make possible a trip from downtown Oakland to downtown San Francisco, the two great metropolitan centers of northern California, in 11½ minutes, reducing by a full half hour the present peak hour travel time.

Holes, some 25 feet below the surface of the water, now are being drilled in the earth and rock of the bay bottom. During the next two months, plugs from the earth and rock layers will be taken for analysis.

Seismic equipment will be placed in several of the holes and earthquake readings will be taken for the next two years.

The consulting engineers explained that the trans-bay tube would withstand an earthquake of the magnitude of the San Francisco temblor of 1906, and that the current activities in the bay are necessary to determine the depth of the tube itself.

TO DEVELOP the system's rolling equipment, the district's engineers have been working with a dozen manufacturers, including several aircraft firms. Final proposals are to be received by March 1, but Hoover indicated that equipment research—as well as research activity concerning automatic controls, fare collection, and construction techniques —will continue even while the bond issue is pending.

Because there is no modern full scale suspended (rail or rails above the cars) system in operation, the base equipment estimate will be predicated on a supported (rail or rails below the cars) two-rail system. Alternate estimates will be prepared on the other systems.

Operational requirements—primarily speed and safety—will dictate final selection of the rolling equipment. The trains will average 45 miles per hour, including station stops.

According to district engineers, all known methods of power and propulsion have been investigated by the district. Some have been utilized by rapid transit or commute systems, and some have had little or no application in this field.

POWER REQUIREMENTS for the proposed regional rapid transit network are greater than those for any transit system now operating. Systems being given most attention by district engineers include 600v third rail, 3000v DC overhead rigid rail and 7200v AC single phase overhead rigid rail.

Because portions of the routings would be located in either tube or tunnel, hydrocarbon fuels or fuel systems can not be used.

Automatic operation and control will be an essential part of the overall rapid transit system design. The entire system will run on its own rights-of-way, so that maximum speeds may be attained at all times.

To as great a degree as possible, the system will be controlled by electronic computers. They will both formulate train scheduling, and program patronage factors. The computers will initiate the makeup and dispatch of all trains.

ONCE A TRAIN enters the control system, it will be governed by trackside and station control equipment which will alter its speed, stop it at stations, and cause it to start once again. An automatic block system will override all the controls in case of serious trouble along the system.

Rapid transit directors were told that suppliers have informed district engineers that such a system is feasible. Proposals and cost estimates are expected within two months.

Three engineering firms are members of the district's joint venture consulting team: Parsons, Brinckerhoff, Quade and Douglas, of New York; Tudor Engineering Company, of San Francisco; The Bechtel Corporation, of San Francisco.

Underwater Transit Tube Studies Started by BART

Preliminary work on the world's longest underwater transit tube has begun in San Francisco Bay.

Marine contractors, working from a giant floating barge, drilled the first of several holes necessary to obtain soil samples and other information from the bottom of the Bay along the tube alignment.

THE INFORMATION is needed to design the $84-million underwater structure, a four-mile-long "key link" in the huge new rail rapid transit system now being engineered for the Bay Area.

The tube, when if constructed, will carry commuters across the Bay between San Francisco and Oakland in 11½ minutes in 70-mile-an-hour electric-powered trains.

Previous engineering studies have already shown that construction of the tube is feasible.

The initial drilling project, costing some $125,000, also includes the installation of special "seismic geophones" at various locations along the tube alignment.

THE GEOPHONES will pick up and transmit earthquake vibrations from the submerged mud and rock to recorders in downtown San Francisco.

The seismic information will be monitored over a period of two years, or until after actual construction of the tube is begun.

Parsons Brinckerhoff-Tudor-Bechtel, consulting engineers for the five-county Bay Area Rapid Transit District, has retained Ben C. Gerwick Inc. of San Francisco to carry out the drilling project, which is expected to take six weeks.

UNITED ELECTRODYNAMICS Inc. of Pasadena will produce and install the underwater seismic geophones on the bottom of the Bay.

Dr. George W. Housner, a California Institute of Technology seismic expert who has been retained by the transit district engineers as special consultant, said there is no question about designing the tube to be earthquake proof.

The preliminary studies, he explained, are needed simply to establish the precise depth and location for the tube, as well as to minimize the costs of construction.

A total of ten holes are being drilled on the proposed tube alignment, which runs from the Oakland Mole to the vicinity of the San Francisco Ferry Building.

Six of the holes will be utilized for soil analysis and four will be used in the seismic tests. The underwater geophones will be installed at three levels in the submerged mud and rock—some as low as 250 feet below the surface of the Bay.

NATURAL SEISMIC vibrations picked up by the equipment will be transmitted by telephone cable to the San Francisco shoreline and thence to the office of the Bechtel Corporation, one of the transit district's consulting firms.

Small charges of dynamite also will be set off in the vicinity of the geophones to simulate stronger earthquake vibrations during the tests, Housner said.

This will be the first time, according to engineers, that such underwater studies have been utilized for a construction project of this type.

The $84-million transit tube will be constructed from prefabricated sections which have been floated out, submerged and then reassembled in an underwater trench dredged out on the bottom of the Bay.

Some $115-million for construction of the tube and its approaches already has been authorized by the California Legislature—to be allocated from surplus auto tolls collected on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge. Actual work on the project, however, cannot get underway until after voters of the five-county district approve issuance of bonds to finance the entire rapid transit system.

Stone, Youngberg Hired by BART For Fund Study

Stone and Youngberg, of San Francisco, widely-known municipal financing consultant firm, has been selected as financial adviser to the five-county Bay Area Rapid Transit District to aid in the preparation of a plan of financing the proposed regional rapid transit system.

General Manager John M. Peirce said Stone and Youngberg will work closely with the district's financial consultant, Smith, Barney & Co., of New York, in developing the financial plan and presenting it to boards of supervisors, city councils and other governmental entities in the district.

"At the time Smith, Barney & Co. was retained in October," Peirce said, "it was recognized that the district would also require the services of a financial consulting firm thoroughly familiar with public financing in the Bay Area. We believe the Stone and Youngberg firm is uniquely qualified to provide this service."

The Stone and Youngberg firm was named in a $40,000 contract submitted to directors of the five-county district at a special meeting.

Founded in 1930, Stone and Youngberg has provided financial consulting services to a wide cross-section of governmental entities in California.

Real Estate Viewpoints . . .

Prospects of Boom in 1960 Look Good . . . '61 Better!

By BILL HAYWARD

IT LOOKS AS THOUGH . . . the day of the "cheap" house is gone forever, and hard to believe . . . the average selling price for homes in cur great state of California for the year 1959 was upped to $17,600—the average, mind you. It was just 20 years ago that the average selling price was $7400—yet with a combination of higher material costs . . . greater labor costs reflected in carpenter and all other construction hourly wages . . . a "wood butcher" now gets about $145-per week as compared with the $60-per week in 1939 . . .

ELECTRICIANS EARN about $175-per week as do the plumbers . . . I don't know what the roofers and the tile setters "take home" . . . but it must be a tidy figure . . . I am told the average monthly payment on home loans today runs to $110-per month . . . so a guy must have a net earnings of approximately $550-per month . . . or $6600-per year . . . according to these figures . . . we better all raise our sights some.

1960 looks like a terrific year from the comments I hear on all sides . . . For example . . . customer confidence has been renewed with the settlement of the steel strike . . . there just seems to be a feeling of "good times" all around us . . . People that I have talked to are saving their money as well as spending a part of their earnings on new things . . . a healthy situation.

WE WILL PROBABLY not see as much new construction in the home field in Contra Costa County in 1960 . . . however, in 1961 I predict another BOOM in this department . . . let these freeways be open for a few months and even the folks down the Peninsula will be coming over here to get the weather and the transportation advantages . . . I heard the other day from a friend of mine that some of the San Mateo County commuters actually drive for 30 minutes from their homes to the train along the Peninsula Route (San Jose to SF) and then spend another 30 to 40 minutes on the Southern Pacific plus the walking or streetcar-taxi time to their offices in San Francisco . . . this could well consume almost 1½ hours with waiting and transferring from all these modes of transportation.

Yet in Orinda, Lafayette, Walnut Creek, Alamo, Danville, Pleasant Hill and Concord we all very well know how easy it is to get to San Franiisio in 45 minutes and be parked at Union Square Garage or in the Geary or Curran Theater. I believe that we have undersold Contra Costa County . . . schools, churches, recreation areas, parks (could stand a few more) . . . Golf courses (need another 1 or 2) weather, shoppers convenience . . . good neighbors, fishing and boating on the rivers plus all the other wonderful things that make up life out here where we live.

IN FACT I HAVE had folks from Minneapolis, Minnesota, Malone, New York, Kansas City, Missouri and Louisville, Kentucky come to me recently to discuss the possibility of their actually moving to our area for a permanent home . . . this shoveling snow is for the pioneers . . . one fellow said . . . These tornados are for the birds, said another . . . I'm ready to give up "tax free" moonshine to move to California . . . from another . . . so 30,000 people a month come to California and stay here to make their fortune . . . and this is also possible.

CONTRA COSTA LAND priced out of the market . . . for a builder to buy and develop full one-half acre at the current rate of land acquisition cost, it is all but impossible to make this a profitable enterprise . . . to pay in excess of $500-per acre and add the cost of all the roads, curbs, gutters and other utilities . . . prices the average builder out of the market.

In San Francisco, long time builder Henry Doelger is still breaking up the property in 25 and 33 foot frontage lots and they sell faster than he can put them up. In fact . . . San Francisco realizes their shortage of land and will not allow a lot larger than 50 feet in width in certain places just to conserve the land . . . and to encourage its development . . . We could stand some of this before it is too late to legislate . . . late, isn't it?

With Ral Graham rolling a 204 game, Navlet's moved into first place by taking three from Wagner Printing, whose Pat Dorr had a 203. Davi Jewelers, behind a 493 by Jo Anne Davies, took over second with a sweep from Estates Cleaners as Stan's Shell Service, paced by Rita Lang's 507, moved into third by blanking team No. 16. Marian Hunter had 195, Sally Kilgore 193.

BUSY BELLES

Despite a 188-519 by Sammie Fehr, the leading Paul Gailus Realtor dropped four games to Frank King Furniture. Seaport took three games from O'Connell Liquors and moved into a second place tie with Corbin's Pharmacy, beaten 3-1 by Pulos Janitorial Service. Seaport bowled a 626 team game and 1695 team series.

Boat Owners Must Register This Month Says Assessor

Every boat owner operating his boat on any waters in California must register his boat or boats with the county assessor each year in the county where his boat is habitually kept.

This registration must be made during the month of January.

Those who have previously registered their boat should complete the application for renewal on Page 3 of the 1960 registration certificate and mail it to C. L. Dunklee, County Assessor, Court House, Martinez.

For those who have not previously registered their boat, or who have lost their registration, contact Dunklee requesting the necessary forms to complete the registration. There is no charge for this registration.

Dunklee stated that swimming and boating are becoming increasingly popular and serious accidents are resulting from the congestion. Protection for the boat owner and his passengers is given through the registration requirements by providing easier identification of boats which violate state or local laws by reckless or negligent operators.

When a boat is sold or ownership transferred, the person in whose name the boat is registered must return the certificate of registration to the county assessor and provide the date of the transfer together with the name and address of the new owner.

Failure to comply with the above requirements constitutes a misdemeanor and the boat owner is liable to a fine or other legal action.

Registration with the county should not be confused with the new boating law which becomes effective in April, 1960.

At that time all boats will be required to be registered with the state, for which there will be a $5 fee. This registration will be handled by the Department of Motor Vehicles. After this date, boat numbers will not be assigned by the Coast Guard or the county, but will be issued by the state.

Under the revenue laws of California boats still remain taxable as personal property.

Spring Season Prospects At Pleasant Hill 'Sharp'

Pleasant Hill High School sports enthusiasts look upon the spring season in a joyous manner. The reason? Pleasant Hill's dominance in spring sports competition in the Diablo Valley Athletic League.

This includes Ram excellence in both their own division, The Contra Costa, and the counties other two member divisions, the Foothill and the East Bay.

FOR THE past several years, the school has had such remarkable success in spring sports competition that other rival coaches must be wondering what they have to do to win a championship in the Rams league.

During the fall season, Pleasant Hill has just an average record. They may take a few first places here and there, but, their output is nothing tremendous.

Come the spring, and championship teams seem to pile up on the Ram doorstep. Take for example the 1958-959 spring season.

OUT OF SIX varsity races, the Rams captured division championships in Gymnastics, Track, Swimming, Tennis and Golf.

The only sport that Pleasant Hill failed to capture was baseball, but even the Ram horsehiders completed a fine season in this sport as they finished high in the league standings.

Junior Varsity teams in five spring sports (Golf is not played on the J.V. level) held an equally fine season as they compiled a total of three championships with two teams finishing in second place.

THE PRIZE-WINNING J.V. teams at Pleasant Hill were Track, Gymnastics and Tennis.

Credit for the school's good athletic record in spring sports should be placed upon the coaches of each sport. In swimming, Art Poulin directing both the varsity and J.V. splashers; Varsity track, Bob McGuire, with Jim Timms coaching the lightweights. Tennis praise goes to Jim Snowden; Golf to John Kaputof, and in baseball, Lyle Palmer for the varsity and Don Lockyer calling the signals for the Junior Varsity.

Hockey Teams Split Doubles

A Division players of the East Bay Junior Ice Hockey League traveled to Stockton Sunday to play a game with half of the Stockton A Division.

The game ended in a 4-4 tie with two goals being scored by Ron Simpson, one by Ken Berthelsen and Mike Malott. The alert goal tending by Jim Pierce was a big factor in keeping the tie score.

The players remaining in Walnut Creek were defeated 4-2 by Stockton. Goals for Walnut Creek were made by Keith Rosen and Mike Bonnington.

The Stockton team members and rooters were treated to hot dogs and cokes afterwards.

Five new boys joined the league Saturday. There is still plenty of time left to learn to skate and be placed on a team. Practice sessions take place on Saturday mornings beginning at 7:30 at the Walnut Creek Ice Rink. Uniforms and hockey skates are furnished by the league.

Clayton Valley Cagers Chalk Up Win Over Clan

The Clayton Valley Eagles chalked up another win recently, but had a much rougher go than expected a sthe Piedmont Clan made a game of it down to the final buzzer.

In fact, with but four minutes to go, Piedmont was within four points of the Clayton Valley five, trailing, 45-49, only to finally go down, 55-47, as the visitors put on a closing scoring spurt.

CLAYTON REALLY WON the ball game in the opening quarter as they went ahead, 18-8.

Piedmont matched the Eagles' 13-point output in the second quarter and outscored them, 12-10, in the third frame.

The clubs matched baskets in the final quarter as each team collected an even 14 points. Piedmont came off with a pair of high scorers in guard Ricky Prestwood, who massaged the hoop for 19 points (eight field goals—three free throws) and forward Dave Shaw who bagged 17 (seven field goals — three free throws).

In the Bee game, Piedmont copped the nod with a 27-23 win paced by guard Bill Klippest who hit for 11 points.

Good Judgment Is Way To Safe Hunting

"No piece of game is worth risking human life."

William E. Warne, former director of the Department of Fish and Game, made this statement recently on receiving reports of a number of recent fatal hunting accidents occurring in the current hunting season.

THE DIRECTOR pointed out that these accidents are particularly tragic since they are the result of ignorance or carelessness and are preventable through gun safety education.

Sportsmen going afield for the remainder of the waterfowl season are reminded that hunter safety requires the use of good judgment as well as the ability to handle firearms safely.

Warne said he has directed department personnel to make every effort to improve and expand the Hunter Safety Training Program of the department which is conducted by volunteer instructors throughout the state.

THE CALIFORNIA Hunter Safety Training program is the result of a law enacted by the State Legislature in 1953, in order to reduce the number of hunter casualties in the field.

The law requires persons unless previously licensed, to pass successfully a course of instruction in the safe handling of firearms before purchasing a hunting license.

The law further authorized the Department of Fish and Game to cooperate with any reputable organization having as one of its aims the promotion of safety in the safe handling of firearms. The National Rifle Association, which had been prominently active in firearm safety education, offered to cooperate in this program.

THE MINIMUM four-hour course of instruction developed by this association and the National Education Association was adopted and is used in the California Hunter Safety Training program.

According to the Department of Fish and Game, this safety course is designed to give the knowledge and encourage the care that can avoid gun accidents in the hunting field.

Emphasis is placed on the knowledge of guns, proper gun handling, hunter responsibility and good sportsmanship. Instruction is provided by more than 27,800 public spirited volunteers who devote their time, knowledge and effort toward making California a safer state in which to hunt.

The experience of these instructors who have trained nearly 170,000 junior hunters in California has proved that a good knowledge of safe gun handling eliminates the cause of gun accidents and reduces the total of hunting casualties.

Information on how to get firearm safety training may be obtained from the agents who sell hunting licenses in each community as well as from the local fish and game wardens and regional offices of the Department of Fish

Salmon vs. Water Feud Continues

Resolutions asking that the East Bay Municipal Utility District be granted the unconditional right to divert an additional 125 million gallons of water per day from the Mokelumne River have been passed by 15 government bodies and civic organizations within the district, according to John W. McFarland, EBMUD general manager.

Both the Alameda and Contra Costa County boards of supervisors have unanimously opposed a request to the State Water Rights Board by the State Department of Fish and Game that EBMUD be required to release downstream 60,000 acre feet of this water per year to maintain fish life.

They have also strongly opposed a Fish and Game Department suggestion that the utility district make up this loss by diverting water from the Delta.

The hearing on the matter before the State Water Rights Board, held November 24 and 25 was recessed and is expected to be resumed early in aJnuary.

EBMUD's position, said McFarland, is that it is in the public interest that this water be used by the people of the fast-growing East Bay area for domestic and industrial purposes.

"Any restriction on this use," he added, "would seriously hamper the district in supplying is customers with the high quality water supply provided by the upper Mokelumne River as the East Bay's water source.

Knights Get 60-37 Win

The Las Lomas Knights started the New Year off with a bang when they rapped Oakland High and good as they posted a 60-37 win over the city invaders.

The Knights really coasted in as they took things into their own hands in the first quarter with a nifty 20-6 lead and stretched it to a 31-16 half time advantage.

USING EVERY PLAYER on the bench in the second half Coach Merrill Callow's charges outscored the Oakland five, 19-10, in the third quarter.

The Oakland club's solace came in the fact that their ace scorer, Bob Alexander, tanked the game's most points with 24 with nine field goals and six free throws.

TOM NICHOLS TOPPED the Knights as he hit on seven of 11 floor shots and bagged a counter from the free throw line.

In the Bee game the Knights made it a clean sweep as they won, 27-19, after leading, 13-12, at the half.

Top Lomas scorers were Bill Chessum and Perry Conner who had seven points each.

Hardwoods Get Big Play as Season Opens

Sideline Slants

By ERWIN MATTSON

One of, if not the most important, thing in life is attitude and that certainly applies to sports.

It takes mental set and balance to produce winners both as individuals and as a team.

Recent events certainly demonstrated that in collegiate circles when Washington trimmed Wisconsin in a "shocker" and, I might add, a pleasant one while Cal's basketball loss to U. S. C. was also a "shocker" but of the unpleasant variety as far as most of the local fans were concerned.

WASHINGTON ROSE TO the heights mentally and physically, attaining both at the same time, and it proved disastrous to Wisconsin, who probably never could bring themselves to believe that the going would be real rough on New Year's Day.

The Big Ten had won and dominated the Rose Bowl for a long time. It all added up and set the psychological stage and wit it came the win for the West which was all the sweeter for the long wait.

The Cal Bears, on the other hand, were the toast of the court as they dropped West Virginia in impressive fashion in the Southern California Tournament final.

It marked their 25th win in a row and they were favored to drop U. S. C. in their league opener only to go cold at the foul line as well as loose in their defensive play.

U. S. C. WAS HUNGRY and Cal was "full" from a banquet of applause and pats on the back.

U. S. C. kicked the Bears where it hurt most, with a loss in their league opener. The end result was a Bear wounded in pride but not in spirit, and he came back Monday night with a sterling performance to trim U. S. C. and tie for the lead.

It all simmers down to the fact that no one game is a cinch and that the more a team wins the danger is a saturation point of satisfaction and an increasing hunger on the part of the opponent who finally wants the win bad enough that he goes out and gets it.

I SEE WHERE A POPULAR Bay Area sports writer on a daily really pulled a boo boo!

His column carried recently was in main criticism of a sports announcer who was imported from the East to work the Rose Bowl and part of the East-West televised games.

I do heartily agree that a pair of local area announcers are about as good as any in the business, namely Bud Foster and Tom Harmon.

THE IMPORTANT GENT did really pull some boners, but the biggest one was by the local daily sports writer who criticized him for stating that on some plays one of the teams lined up with eight and nine men on the line of scrimmage.

His (the sports writer's) comment was to the effect that anyone who knew the rules knew that only seven could be on the line of scrimmage.

The rules state that at least seven must be on the line of scrimmage on offense but doesn't limit the number beyond seven. In fact, you can put all 11 there if you wish as far as the rule book is concerned.

THE 49ERS USED MORE than seven on the line on offense on several occasions the past season.

The startling fact is how many sports announcers really don't understand the "inside" of the game they are reporting.

THE SUN IN ITS last issue carried a special story on the Acalanes Union High School District, covering the time from 1940 when it first started.

The changes have certainly been many in the 20-year period, with the war and the freeways along with the growth of population a few of the contributing factors.

The original Acalanes High School was built and operated the first year for something in the neighborhood of $350,000—today it takes over a million dollars for the same size plant.

ACALANES OPENED WITH under 400 students in the district and all came to the same school. Today there are four schools, Acalanes, Las Lomas, Miramonte and Del Valle and a fifth to be built on a site near Rheem Center is on the drawing board.

I happened to be here when Acalanes opened. We had one shower for 55 football players. The coach's shower was the only one completed when school opened and the office looked like Clear Lake after all 55 had taken their turn.

The football field was dirt.

No baseball field was available and all practices were held at the Lafayette School. It was so rough that infield practice came only on days when the games were played away from home.

WE DIDN'T HAVE a track, but did have a track team and while we didn't have a swimming pool we had a team that held their workouts, such as they were, in private pools.

It was rough in lots of ways but lots of fun in another.

"Stub" Van Brocklin came out of that crew and later went on to star at Oregon and became a great pro quarterback. At present he is tossing 'em for the Philadelphia Eagles after many seasons with the Rams.

FORREST WILSON AND his twin brother were players as was Babe Allen and Dave Crosett.

They are members of the local fire fighting brigade. Earl Eigard of the East Bay Municipal Utility District was another all around performer as was Don Hoyvenin who presently resides in Danville.

They were lots of others and sometime in the near future I plan to do a more complete article. Time and space have given out, so it's adios for now.

LARRY DERUSHIA, San Ramon mentor, has really had a rough go this past week. His Wolves rolled over Miramonte in the final 30 seconds in one varsity go for an upset win and then the Dons of Acalanes edged by in a real tight one. He was sent to bed by his doctor Tuesday and if all goes well tonight, he isexpected back on the job Monday. Another close one might mean a relapse, however, we hope not. — Sun photo by Mattson.

Timms Coaches Winners On PH Ramsville Ovals

By DAVE MORENO

For Pleasant Hill lightweight track coach Jim Timms, accepting a teaching position at Pleasant Hill fullfilled his greatest ambition, to coach young men and boys in the athletic world.

Jim is a real workhorse in coaching as his complete schedule at Pleasant Hill is slanted toward athletics.

BESIDES TEACHING five periods of Physical Education, Timms spends his free time in directing both the J.V. football and B track teams after school.

Sports have played a big role in Timms' high school and college years, as he played on both the football and baseball teams at Narbonne High School. Upon graduation from the Los Angeles prep school in 1951, Jim enrolled at the College of the Pacific in Stockton. He played varsity football for four years, as freshman were eligible for varsity competition.

Other sports that Timms participated in during his college days were baseball and rugby.

Jim spent one year of graduate study at C.O.P., receiving a masters degree in Physical Education. He majored in this subject with History as his minor.

TIMMS WAS promptly drafted into the Army after he received his degree in 1955. He spent the following two years in the service.

Pleasant Hill was Jim's final stop after completing his Army duty. For Jim, this is his second year of teaching in the Pleasant Hill School.

He was recently married to Miss Connie Gardener and they reside in Pleasant Hill.

Babe Thinclad Signups Slated

Sign-ups for Pleasant Hill High School's lightweight track team will be held at the end of next week, according to varsity coach Bob McGuire and assistant coach Jim Timms.

Although Coach Timms has no exact idea on the numbers of boys to turn out for the team, he is expecting many boys of good quality and experience.

The reason is last year's championship team in the lightweights and this season's trophy winning frosh-soph cross country harriers.

Thirty-eight boys who participated on the B track team last year, will be vieing for the small number of openings on the Junior Varsity squad, vacated by some of this year's varsity runners.

Add this number of returnees to the list of boys who will probably stay on the same J.V. team that they played for last year, and you have a powerful organization that will be respected during the DVAL Contra Costa Division season.

Crystal Ball Clears as Old Prof Sees Hazy Visions in Sports Area

By SOSS OPPLES

The old crystal ball is as clear as the weather and here goes for some top gazing — that's right, not guessing.

It's still Len Casanova as the new grid mentor at Cal. He has the qualifications and is the type of man Cal wants. It will be announced within the week.

The crystal ball also shows that Oakland won't do much more than talk about pro football for several years. Stadium difficulties will stop them as Oakland has never been too fast with putting up the necessary dollars for such a project.

They didn't support the Oaks, the big question is would they support pro football which takes a lot of "cabbage".

In prep basketball Acalanes travels to Las Lomas and this one could be a big one in deciding the eventual winners. Tab the Dons to win the varsity go 41-40, it's that close.

Miramonte draws the bye Friday while Piedmont plays and beats San Ramon. The clan is on the upgrade and will be ready to upset teams from here on in. It's the clan 51-39, Pleasant Hill opens the league tonight facing Pacifica on the Ram court. It's the Rams in a close one 32-30.

Tuesday the Acalanes team plays Miramonte at home and the Mats will have difficulty finding the range in the Don crackerbox. It's a Don win 43-33.

Knights Top Matadors In DVAL Open

The Las Lomas Knights playing at home Tuesday afternoon made their league opener a success when they toppled the Mats 55-33 after a close first half.

In fact the Orinda five was hitting long and often in the first half as they hit time and again from fifteen feet out and better. They wound up in a 12-12 first quarter tie but fell behind when Lomas took a 27-24 half time advantage.

Miramonte shooting cooled off in the third quarter as they managed but 4 points to the Walnut Creek Clubs 10.

The Knights really served it up in the final quarter as they outhit the visitors 18 points to 7.

Once again the Nichols brother lead the hit parade for the Knights as Tom collected 18 points (7FG—4FT) while brother Bub had 13 (4FG—5FT).

Miramontes center Jack Gilbert put 11 points through the mesh to top the Orinda five with four field goals and three free throws.

In floor shots Las Lomas connected on 17 x 37 for 36 per cent to Orinda's 13 x 39 for 33 per cent.

The Knights big advantages and game control came in the rebounds as they grabbed 36 to the visitors 22 and from the free throw line as they managed 23 points on 30 attempts to a 9 point on 16 tries by Miramonte. The win gave the Knights a 1-0 league mark to an 0-2 for the Mats.

Ram Varsity Loses to Crockett, But Bees Pick Up Victory, 33-20

The Pleasant Hill Bees started things off well enough against the John Swett five when they copped a 33-20 decision but the tables were turned in the varsity go when the Rams found themselves as cold as the weather at the hoop and wound up on the short end of a 33-20 count.

The Rams took their most floor shots in any game to date 60—but hit for only 11 which gave them an 18 per cent average while the Indians hit 35 per cent with 19 x 54.

The Rams failed to hit for double digits in any quarter but came close in the final period of play with 9. They had 7 in the first, 8 in the second and a repeat 7 in the third.

John Swett on the other hand was on the war path in the opening quarter when they hit for 18 points, fell to a low six in the second period, upped it to 9 in the third quarter and scampered home with insurance points as they collected 17 in the final 8 minutes of play.

Swett Guard Willie Lightfoot hit for 19 points to top the field for 19 points to top the field in scoring while Center Mac Thorp paced the Rams with 9.

Practice Win For Las Lomas At Pleasant Hill

The Las Lomas Knights had a bye in Foothill League play last Friday night and the Rams League hadn't started as yet so the two hooked up in a practice clash at the Pleasant Hill gym—with the Knights posting a 45-35 win.

The Knights paced by Tom Nichols with 22 points and Eric Nankivell with 10 were in front all the way taking a 16-8 first quarter lead and while the Rams made it 25-20 at the half and played it even in the third quarter when each club collected 9 points the fourth quarter found the Knights outscoring the Rams 11-6.

Byron Lenerose was the Rams top scorer with eight points.

Dons Win Varsity And Bee Contests Over San Ramon

The Acalanes Varsity and Bee basketball teams each racked up win number two in as many league outings as they throttled the San Ramon Wolves Tuesday afternoon.

The Bees won 41-24 after leading 21-12 at the half with Bob Gillham taking swing honors for the winners with 18 points.

In the varsity game the Dons started fast as they shot to a 15-5 first quarter lead only to drop behind 24-23 at the half when San Ramon hit for 19 points to the Dons 8.

Acalanes came back with a vengeance in the second half to take a 35-32 third quarter lead and then banged in 20 points in the final canto while holding the Wolves to 8 to insure the win.

Highway Patrol Warns Parents Of Tiny 'Carts'

Captain Russel R. Magill, commander of the California Highway Patrol's Contra Costa unit, warned owners of tiny gasoline engine powered vehicles to keep them off public streets or face prosecution for violating the state vehicle code.

"A 15-year-old was killed two days after Christmas when he smashed the midget racer he had received for Christmas into a parked car," Magill declared.

"The California Highway Patrol is determined to crack down as hard as it can on the illegal use of these vehicles. We don't want any more children killed because they were allowed to violate the law."

Captain Magill said the state law defines the midgets as motor vehicles, but they cannot be registered and licensed as such because they do not meet the legal requirements as to lights, brakes, windshield, and other equipment. Consequently, it is unlawful to drive them on public roads.

"Our main concern is with the safety of the youngsters. The law makes the parents liable if they allow an unlicensed vehicle to be operated by an unlicensed driver on a public street or highway.

Acalanes, San Ramon Win Foothill League Games

The Foothill Division League play opened last Friday night and found the Acalanes Dons toppling Piedmont and the San Ramon Wolves nailing Miramonte.

Both games were thrillers that went down to the final buzzer before the issue at hand was settled.

Acalanes playing Piedmont in the spacious Del Valle High gym wound up with a 51-42 victory.

The early stages of the game found the two teams hitting well from the floor as the Dons took a 21-16 first quarter lead and wound up the half ahead 33-24.

Piedmont came with a surge in the second half as they outscored the home club 10-8 in the third quarter and 13-10 in the fourth period of play, to keep the fans on edge to the final buzzer.

Piedmont ace Dave Shaw put on a shooting display as he broke away every time and again to bag the Knights high—20 points next in line for the clan was Rick Prestwood with 10.

Don Nelson played standout all around game for Acalanes and hit for 13 points as did teammate Mel Simpson. Paul Colin, Don Forward was also in double figures with 11.

Backboard control probably gave Acalanes the edge as Colin led the way by grabbing 14 off the boards out of a total of 34 to Piedmonts 25. In the Bee game the Don Babes played their best of the year as they racked up a 33-14 win with Bub Gilham and Gary Miller netting 9 points each.

The Miramonte San Ramon game played at Danville found another action packed thriller as a closing minute bucket plus a pair of charity tosses gave San Ramon a 41-37 win.

The game was tight all the way as it was 12-12 at the quarter and Miramonte in front 21-20 at the Midway mark.

San Ramon took the lead when they outscored the Mats 10-6 in the third quarter and held on for the win as they had a one point edge 11-10 in the final quarter.

It was 37-37 with 31 seconds to go and stayed that way until the Wolves Brian Hansen hit from close in on a jump shot and with three seconds to go Wayne Forrell was fouled and hit a pair of free throws to guarantee the win.

A STOP work order has been issued by county officials against the construction of riding stables on the eastern slope of the Altarinda properties, just east of the Crossroads. Residents of the area complained about construction of the stables to Orinda Association directors last week, and the county planning department investigated the matter. Here, Vic Kingston (left of center, standing), new president of the association, looks over the construction while it was under way last weekend. The county officials reported the construction was started without benefit of a building permit. —Sun photo by Mattson.

Two Area Men Named to Posts

Two central county men have been named to top management posts in the White House store nearing completion in the Kaiser Center, Oakland, according to Reginald H. Biggs, president of the firm.

Richard M. Gorow, 33, of Moraga, was appointed store manager, and Anthony H. Biggs, 105 Las Vegas Road, Orinda, will be assistant store manager.

GOROW, WHO joined the White House early in 1959, is a graduate of the University of California, Los Angeles, class of 1946, with a degree of bachelor of science.

He was a lieutenant (jg.) in the Navy during World War II, serving in the Pacific theatre. He is married and has three children, and before joining the White House he was employed by the Emporium as manager of the Stonestown branch.

Biggs has been with the White House since November, 1958 as an executive trainee. He formerly was a time and cost analyst with the National Broadcasting Company.

He holds a first lieutenant's commission in the inactive reserve of the United States Marine Corps. Biggs was graduated from the University of California, Berkeley, in 1956, and is married and has two children.

Suburbia Scribblings

By MARIE MONAHAN

For Whom the Bells Told

Close friends & family members toasted the Engaged Pair at the Carl Wellington Smith's of Via Floreado on New Year's Day—

WHEN the engagement of THEIR daughter Julie Anne to Wilson Blake, a 2nd Lieut. in the USA, was revealed by gay red Christmas Bells bearing the tidings—the couple's names inscribed in gold on the clappers.

The popular Orinda girl who is in her Junior yr. at the University of Oregon will have the opportunity to wear an heirloom gown when she is married in the summer to the young Army Lieutenant. For her grandmother Mrs. George Hug of Salem, Oregon (charter member of KAT, Julie's sorority) has offered her own wedding frock which was fashioned fastidiously to every intricate detail by Julie's Swedish Great Aunts who were couteriere designers of Inaugural Ball gowns & traversed far & wide for the fine fabrics used in their making.

BUT Back to the engagement party — For the mid-afternoon party, the young couple received in front of the fireplace, Julie's festive frock of red brocade, a Ceil Chapman design.

Among the guests, the Ted Harrers w/their daughters Susie, Michele & Marilee, the latter w/her fiance Bob Porter of Piedmont. Betty & Cal Hagstrom, Dr. and Mrs. William Sheppard & Dr. & Mrs. Wayland Cunningham.

Chris & Bill Lang introducing their dghtr. Marcia who was up from the South for the holidays.

THE LARGE Traditional house in the spirit of Christmas—the dining table long & wide w/two magnificent silver candelabra, the buffet of ham & turkey brilliant against the dark wood, the red satin streamers.

Clark Blake, (Wilson's brother, who is a Geologist) introducing his New Zealand bride . . . the Vic Grabers sampling the hot crab hors d'oeuvres. The Smith's 2 yr. old daughter Carla toddling between guests like an Angel in a party-pink dress . . . Carla's brother seven-yr. old Hal taking the Rev. Corwin Callavan's son Robert off to find a game. . . . Dr. Smith, off on an emergency house call, being welcomed w/gay greetings on his arrival home late afternoon.

The Gay Party of the Good News, a kind of a hush, hush, don't tell EVERYBODY affair since Julie still had a week to go before returning to the Oregon campus where she surprised her Theta sisters w/the announcement at the traditional candlelight ceremony last Fri. night.

Notes From the Noggin'

OUR WHINES HAVE tender gripes . . . Now that the holidays are over, is there anything more forlorn—than leftover trees in the lots on Christmas morn? All that growing & chop-chop down for nothing & If I Had A Million, well, I'd string 'em all with w/popcorn anyhow. Something for the birds as well!

ALSO, if I was down to my LAST bottom dollar, I'd never, never NEVER go near those loan sharks who have the audacity to do their radio commerecial for last-minute loans "up to $1000" using Jolly Old St. Nick's voice as a Come On. What IS the world coming to?

The Dave Smiths (Cya) are brushing up on their British Accent for a move to the Isles & maybe they've left already! But they will be back in 2 yrs!

Mary Dupuis got Bongo Drums for Christmas & the John Harbells bought a set of Snare Drums. Now you want to make something out of my new Baritone Uke? Which I STILL can't play, but I'm trying!

NEW Homes going up in the Vista del Mar area are those of the Gordon Frenches, the Ed Kruses . . . The Kruses' house, designed by Robert Klemmondson, is magnificent in STONE.

This section, located off Camino Don Miguel, is property that was in the family of Charles Rosenthal (Mat. Life Ins. man) for over 30 yrs.

ALMOST ANGELS are those children in the Los Amigos sector who showed real Christmas Spirit over the holidays. Forget this story? Never, kids! But a little turtledove told us & darned if we didn't lose the notes.

All on their own, Marilyn Anderson & Barry Usinger (who had been giving magic shows & selling cupcakes) decided that they'd like to do a whole play & give it as a benefit for the less fortunate ones at Juvenile Hall. With the helping hand of Regine "Genie" Gillkee as their Director, more neighborhood thespians were recruited & "Almost An Angel" played to a pleased-as-punch audience of parents & friends in Fellowship Hall one night pre-Christmas. MORE ANGELS were Connie McClure, Sandy Robinson, Steve Lowman & Randy Lucas.

More on the Margin

SIGNS OF OUR TIMES . . . In one fifth grade class, two of the reading groups are calling themselves "The Hot Dogs" & what else? "The Cool Cats".

Which reminds us—Early Dec., a little girl romped home from Kindergarden singing "Oh Atom Bomb, Oh Atom Bomb" & the bewildered mother, recognizing the tune, said "Dear, it's O Tannenbaum, O Tannenbaum" at which little girl almost broke into tears, "But that's the way we learned it, Mother!"

THE PHONE NO. to call for Lombardy's popular Bridge Lessons by Mrs. G. W. Files is CL. 4-3820 & it will be member Jane Peck saying Hello.

HANGOVER FROM Mexico . . . Harriet Ainsworth in the Lucky Parking Lot standing in the drizzle & holding her red coat up & over her head very much in Matador style—She & husband Jay, down for the holidays, went Big for the Bullhorns which they lugged home but advise YOU to try the Tequila instead. Cheaper & not HALF so cumbersome!

THE CARE && FEEDING of Romac, the IBM electronic brain, is the problem of Chuck Burkett these days who is up at Squaw Valley nursing the nervous machine & already has it on a diet of dotted cards & Olympic champs. It never makes a mistake & will do all the totalizing for the Games, but my, is it temperamental!

Les & Poppy Rowe (whose dghtr. Yolande is married to Chuck) have just returned from a Big Family Reunion in Vancouver.

A Very Important Person at the Matt Hammond's NY party was Hossien Eshraghi, half-brother to the Shah of Iran who showed us how long it takes to say Happy New Year in HIS language. A Consul General here, he didn't dash home for the Big Wedding since he had just got back.

THAT swashbuckling guest at the same party, the one w/the sideburns & the sweeping long black cape, was Leonardo Carvajal of Spain, an artist of note who has painted, among others, Vivian Leigh's portrait for Sir Oliver.

Dashing duds from Das Matterhorn will team up w/ogglesome items from Ogden's when Ailauthus, junior branch of Children's Hospital, hostesses their fashion luncheon Sat., Jan. 16 at Mike Lynn's. Yvonne King will commentate. We do mean Mrs. Del Courtney. One of the door prizes will be a pr. of skis. Call Carolyn Archer, show chrmn. for reservations at CL. 4-5782.

Hertzberg Is Top Engineer For EBMUD

The appointment of Lee B. Hertzberg of Walnut Creek as supervising engineer of the East Bay Municipal Utility District's mechanical design section has been announced.

The American Water Works Association has published two of his papers: a manual on corrosion and a paper entitled, "Radio Communications for Water Utilities."

Judy Henderson Is In COP Drama Group

Speaker Tells Place of Teachers and Counselors

Teachers should teach and counselors should counsel, was the gist of comments by Dr. Fred Whelan, associate professor of psychology at Saint Mary's College, as part of an address delivered before some 200 Christian Brothers at their 26th annual teachers convention.

Speaking on the problems of the adolescent and his reactions to his environment, Dr. Whelan observed that "today too many teachers become embroiled in the personal problems of their students, when they are not properly trained for this work. Often, their advice does more harm than good."

DR. WHELAN'S talk traced the adolescent's problems within the home and at school, with special emphasis on the lack of understanding that exists both with the modern parent and with many of the student's teachers.

"In today's world," said Whelan, "even adults are unsure of the proper values, standards and their own goals. Even the concept of acceptable behavior is a confused one. It is small wonder that the adolescent, in striving to become an adult, becomes confused."

Dr. Whelan stressed the lack of proper sources of information on sexuality for the adolescent. "Our culture today appears to be moving toward greater glorification of sexuality. It is no wonder that most adolescents are confused about this subject, for our culture emphasizes sexuality and the adolescent, in trying to be adult, attempts to imitate those aspects that will make him more adult-like. And he is trying to do something he knows little about."

DR. WHELAN ADDED that in today's society more people, both adult and adolescent, know more about the function of their automobile or vacuum cleaner than the meaning of sexuality with regard to its place in the total picture of living.

Dr. Whelan cited the need for proper and "fair discipline:" "The adolescent wants rules and guidelines so that he can know what is expected of him at home, school, and with his own group. Some parents and teachers provide such rules, others do not. Many adults are afraid to discipline the adolescent but I cannot stress too strongly his need for consistent and fair discipline."

It is for the teacher, Dr. Whelan pointed out, to teach, but it is also for him to give proper personal motivation to the student to "challenge him to work up to his capacities and help him greatly to solve his problems of growing up."

Warning From Civil Defense

Will H. Perry Jr., director of the Contra Costa County Office of Civil Defense and Disaster, warned that his office has received reports from several residents of the county that they had been contacted by telephone and asked for information of a personal nature under pretense that the information was necessary for civil defense purposes.

Perry advises that his office is conducting no such survey by telephone.

Any time the citizens are contacted by the County Civil Defense in person or by telephone, the calling persons will properly identify themselves as to their name, title, and Civil Defense affiliation.

Cancer Film Is Available For Groups

Are you the program chairman of a club, union, professional, social, business or church group?

If so, the American Cancer Society has a new film designed to help you select the type of program your organization would most enjoy, according to Dr. John Cheredes of Walnut Creek and Pittsburg, education chairman of the society's Contra Costa County Branch.

The film presents highlights from seven of the society's most popular life-saving movies.

"It condenses into approximately 15 minutes a previewing job that otherwise would require about five hours," Dr. Cheredes commented.

Arrangments to view the sampler film can be made by calling the Contra Costa County Branch of the American Cancer Society.

All bookings of American Cancer Society films are free.

Former Heart Patient Takes Sunday Drive

Mrs. Robert Clough of Walnut Creek for the third consecutive year will be Heart Sunday chairman of the County Heart Association's Heart Fund drive.

Mrs. Clough will be responsible for the organization of the fifth annual Heart Sunday campaign to be conducted throughout the county in February.

The drive will open February 1 and reach its climax on Heart Sunday, February 28, when some 6,000 volunteers in Contra Costa County will make door to door appeals to their neighbors for funds for the research, education and community service programs of the Heart Association.

"I know from personal experience how important the Heart Fund is since I am a living example of what heart research can accomplish," Mrs. Clough said.

She cited three phases of heart research which have been of direct benefit to her — delicate heart surgery, drugs and diet.

"In 1953 when heart surgery was less common than it is now, thanks to further research, I underwent surgery for a condition called mitral stenosis, a closing up of the mitral valve inside the heart.

"According to the doctor, my condition was caused by childhood rheumatic fever. Since that operation, I can truly say I'm really living."

Mrs. Clough benefits from research each day of her life, she added. She continues to take drugs as a preventive measure against infection from a possible recurrence of rheumatic fever and is on a low sodium diet to prevent any complications.

Damaged heart valves may often be repaired by surgery, says the Contra Costa County Heart Association.

Miramonte Mirror...

What?? Molehills Out Of Miramonte Mountain?

By JULE NOLLER

THE newest and biggest "outside activity" around Miramonte has been the intense rivalry between the junior and senior class boys, which has prevailed since the beginning of the school year.

This serge of competition began with a battle over whose class could keep their name written on the hill across from Miramonte. Every morning at 6:30 for one week, either a group of seniors or juniors could be seen changing the sign on the hill.

THIS "RAT RACE" was finally ended by Student Council.

It was decided to have the four class presidents, including Milt Howe, senior class president; Tom Ferguson, junior class president; Roger McCosker, sophomore class president and Fred Neighbor, president of the freshman class, organize a group of students to put a green M on the hill, which will statnd for "school unity."

However, the competition between the classes at Miramonte will not be hampered in the least. Starting in February with the junior class, each of the classes will present an assembly for the rest of the student body. The sophomores will give theirs in March, the freshmen in April and the seniors in May.

SENIORS AND SOPHOMORES will rejoice at the termination of semester finals, but the juniors and freshmen won't be through. On the Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday following finals, they will be suffering the Iowa Tests for three hours each morning.

These examinations measure the students' aptitude in nine fields which include such things as quantitive thinking, and reading literature.

The weekend following the Iowa Tests on February 5, the Ski Club will take off for Dodge Ridge and two days of skiing. Their last trip, which was planned for January 9 and 10 to Edelweiss, was canceled because of the poor snow conditions.

THE FRESHMEN TEEN-AGE Club has planned a snow trip to Edelweiss on January 30, which coincides with the senior's ski trip to Edelweiss on the same day. The freshmen, however, have extended an invitation to Miramonte sophomores and juniors to attend their trip also. It looks as though it won't be an exclusive senior ski trip after all!!

The fourth issue of the "Confidential," Miramonte's monthly gossip sheet, went to press last Monday with pink and blue pages! Dancers, parties, humorous features and jokes make up its criteria. Enid Hennessey and Judy Poole are co-editors and chief "gossip-getters" for the "Confidential."

Its sister paper, the "Mirador," takes on another form. It is produced by the journalism class, as is the "Confidential," and is Miramonte's first printed newspaper. The "Mirador" covers such items as school activities, scholastic achievements, sports, the "Couple of the Month," the "Hottest Heap" and "Bits O' Gossip."

SINCE SEPTEMBER, everyday at sometime and somewhere in Miramonte, a conversation among seniors has turned to college. Some have already decided where they will go for sure and others may not make up their minds until next summer.

A few of those seniors who are "almost positive" of where they will be next year are Katy Baker who thinks she'll be going to Cal; Bill Brown to Stanford; Marty De Moyer to the University of Arizona; Bill Harmon to University of Oregon; Diane Traverso to Santa Barbara; Mario Guarneri to U. S. C., Judy Poole, Marsha Nicol to San Jose State and Peggy Bowler to the University of Oregon.

Child Museum At PH Library Is Revamped

The Children's Museum maintained by the Pleasant Hill Junior Woman's Club in the Pleasant Hill Library, located near the intersection of Oak Park Boulevard with Pleasant Hill Road, is now showing a collection of antique foreign dolls from many countries, including France, Spain, Portugal, Italy, Germany, Hungary and Estonia.

According to the art chairman of the Pleasant Hill Junior Woman's Club, the dolls will be on exhibit approximately four weeks.

The library is open from 1 p.m. until 9 p.m. weekdays and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays, but is closed Sundays.

Inquiries concerning the exhibits should be directed to Mrs. Ida Shaw, librarian.

Ceramics Classes Held Wed. Nights

Ceramics is taught on Tuesday evenings by Mrs. Greenwood, and rug making on Wednesday evenings by Mrs. Holst, at Mt. Diablo High School.

Rug making is also offered at Pacifica High School on Monday evenings, and both a morning and afternoon class is held on Tuesdays at the Pleasant Hill Recreation Center.

Gymnastics for women is instructed by Barbara Callow on Tuesday evenings at Pleasant Hill High School, and on Thursday evenings by Alice Magill at Mt. Diablo High School.

Parents interested in child guidance, adult psychology, adolescent psychology, and family relations will find these courses most interesting. Dr. Bryan is an expert in the field of parent education.

District Courses Are Varied to Meet Needs, Desires Of Most Students

"The big problem we face today in setting up high school courses is in meeting the education requirements of 3793 students with many diverse vocational interests and personal needs," Dr. Max Appleby explained in illustrating curriculum problems being solved by local high schools in the Acalanes Union High School District.

Appleby described the role of each high school's counseling and guidance program as, "the key" to determining what courses are to be given and which students will take them.

"OUR COUNSELING and guidance offices help the student identify his interests, help him realize his aptitudes and potential for achievement and help to guide him through a carefully selected program of courses best suited to his interests, abilities, needs and ambitions.

"People who haven't been around a high school for sometime might not recognize the instruction now given in some classes," Appleby stated. "Math and science courses now have units on nuclear and atomic structure that weren't heard of 10 years ago.

"Industrial art and business education courses are not as uncomplicated as they used to be. Now they are geared to improvements in machines and to basic industrial data and operation processes which reflect great changes in our economy and in our industrial world.

"OF COURSE, MANY of the basic fundamentals, skills and work habits are still taught in the courses that are required in every student's educational program. These would include the instruction in English, mathematics, science, history and geography, and physical fitness," Appleby pointed out.

"In addition to the change in the courses themselves and through the continuous updating of course offerings and contents, our teachers are better trained—both in the specifics of their teaching areas and in the basic principles and methods of learning," he continued.

"The high school student who makes an honest effort to take advantage of the opportunities which are now offered to him, to get a good high school education, is usually very well prepared to meet the demands of our complex modern-day society," Appleby concluded.

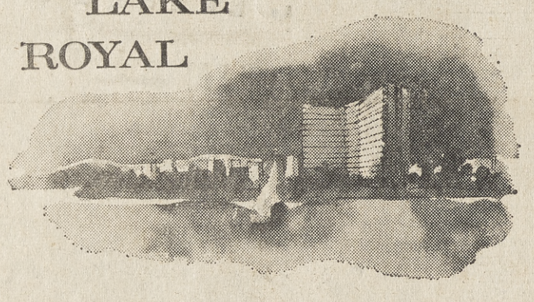
THE LAKE ROYAL



Really one of the most economical places you can live

Luxury costs less than you might expect, at Oakland's Lake Royal. Because many of the costs are shared by 55 families, they'll all get a real bargain. Compare these costs of living at the Lake Royal with whatever you pay every month to live in a nice suburban home.

		If you owned the least expensive apartment-home in the Lake Royal you'd pay:	If you owned the most expensive apartment-home in the Lake Royal you'd pay:
1.	Your part of the interest and principal on the mortgage loan	$100	$175
2.	Real estate taxes and insurance	33	58
3.	Maintenance services (complete garden care, upkeep of the building, salaries of doorman, resident-manager, garage attendant, janitor, and other services)	36	60
4.	Water (at the Lake Royal this cost includes heat—all you want—because of the baseboard hot-water heating system)	5	9
5.	Reserves for long-range maintenance and repairs (Should the Lake Royal ever need painting or repairs, it's taken care of in advance by this fund. Do you have this kind of protection in your present home?)	13	23

Where else can you enjoy so much luxury for so little? For an appointment to see model apartment-homes, call Coldwell, Banker & Company, exclusive sales agents, at GLencourt 1-7300, or visit the Lake Royal any day between 1:30-4:30 p.m. The Lake Royal, 177 Nineteenth Street, Oakland.

Masterson Lists Abuses Of Needy Child Program

Problems and abuses of the Aid to Needy Children Program, which each year costs Contra Costa taxpayers many thousands of dollars, were listed by Superior Judge-elect S. C. Masterson.

He spoke at a meeting of the County Taxpayers Association, December 14. His points:

1. More than one-third of the children on the ANC program are illegitimate.

2. MANY PARENTS who receive the money run up bills and then refuse to pay them, and the County Welfare Department cannot stop or reduce payments or insist that the bills be paid.

3. Federal law, which defines the "needy child," encourages family dislocation.

4. Fathers who sneaked away sneak back during evenings or weekends, and are not discovered because welfare workers are limited to a 40-hour, weekday schedule. This assures recipients that they will not be caught.

5. The large increase in payment with each new child often encourages the father as the dependents increase and where his wages are less or barely equal to the "needy" payments, to "desert".

6. MAIN opposition to reform measures come from the State Social Welfare Department and some legislators, whose districts have a large number of voters on the ANC program. Opposition reasoning is, "Children should not be blamed for the actions of their parents."

7. About $153 millions are spent each year for the ANC program, with about $50 millions going for illegitimate children.

Masterson said he had, as an assemblyman, introduced a bill including "The persistent refusal to pay bills" in the definition of "mismanagement," but it was pocket-vetoed by Governor Brown.

He said another bill by Senator J. A. Cobey empowering investigation where there is one illegitimate child and requiring it where there are two, was defeated.

HE URGED THE Taxpayers' Association to work for reforms in the Social Welfare Department which would bring about more careful investigation, not limited to the daytime, weekdays.

He said a limit on ANC payments, which would take the "incentive" out of the father's departure, should be imposed.

The Association might also explore the possibility of providing more money at the local level ". . . to restore the stability of families which are on the verge of dissolving," as this might involve savings in the long run.

W. G. Golden, the county welfare department director, recently made several comments on the current problems:

1. BOTH FEDERAL and State legislatures, each of which are supplying 40 per cent of the ANC money, are presently inclined to expand rather than restrict the program.

2. Recessions, such as in 1956-7, cause a loss of job opportunities for fathers and working mothers, with more reliance on aid to support their children.

3. The decline in value of the U. S. dollar since 1939 alone has accounted for a 200 per cent increase in ANC costs.

4. Contra Costa County has experienced a great population gain, which also accounts for the great increase in ANC costs.

5. MISMANAGEMENT of given money by the parent can be remedied only when the state legislature allows the local organization to substitute assistance in kind for the monthly payment.

6. Recipients of the program often don't reveal that a child has left the home (reducing the payment) or that a "missing" father actually is around during evenings and on weekends.

7. Missing fathers are being traced, forced to pay their share, and in a few cases, persuaded to return to their families.

Goodbread Cited For Long Service With Government

The Orindan started his government service with the U. S. Forest Service in 1929, later joining the Corps of Engineers, during which time he served in Trinidad and Hawaii.

"SKUNK JUICE"

Rattlers may soon be kept away from campsites in snake-infested areas by the simple application of synthetic "skunk juice" made in an oil refinery. The petroleum chemical, according to the National Automobile Club, has an odor almost identical to that of a skunk, which is a natural enemy of the rattler.

Firm Wins School Bid

The Reynolds Construction Company of Santa Rosa tentatively has been awarded the contract for construction of the Inland Valley Intermediate School.

Reynolds' total bid of $553,432 was the lowest of nine submitted to the Orinda Union School District board of trustees last week.

SUPERINTENDENT of Schools Joseph L. Sheaff said the bid falls well below that authorized by the state, but formal approval by state officials is required before construction can begin. He estimated that work on the intermediate school project will begin January 18.

Sheaff noted that all nine bids received by the district fell within the limits established by the state. A representative from the state was present at last week's bid opening and indicated the bid would be accepted.

Other bidders on the project and their total bids were Rubino and Gullickson, Stockton, $564,979; Tagni Construction Company, Crockett, $579,878; Western Empire Construction Company, Concord, $580,040; James E. Roberts Company, Oakland, $585,800; Zuckerman Construction

They are David R. Doerr, who will receive an M.A. in social science, and Philip R. Wood, who will receive a B.A. in journalism.

WHAT'S DOING

Howard Greenhalgh, your Telephone Manager in Orinda

Meet Lillian Buell, a service representative service reps everywhere, she answers questions or requests when people call in about their service. We wanted you to meet her because she's typical of the people we like to have working for you—bright, personable, and likes to help others. Naturally, she got plenty of special training before she took over her service desk. That's the way we like to do it . . . help people like Lillian build careers for themselves while they do a good job for you.

You know that wire that runs from your phone to the pole outside? It's called a drop wire. With lots of new phones going in, you've probably seen phone men hooking up these wires. Most always, they have a few small pieces left over. Do they throw these pieces away? Not at all! These "leftovers" are put together into lengths of wire we can use somewhere else. We do it by melting the leftovers down, along with other scrap metal and cable pieces. And you'd be surprised . . . just from this reclaimed metal alone we get hundreds of miles of new wire every year. So you see, just like a budget-minded housewife we make good use of our scraps!

LOOK magazine readers may have seen the article about the Los Angeles "Family Housing Conference" attended by 100 builders. These builders asked a panel of 28 home-owners (23 women and 5 men) for their opinions on everything from doorknobs to landscaping—to telephones. And the ladies agreed: a kitchen phone is "an absolute necessity". One woman added, "We have four telephones at our house, and when I put them in I was criticized by my husband, who does some traveling. We have one in the kitchen, the basement, living room, and one upstairs in my bedroom. But when my husband calls home on his trips, all three of us get on the phones and talk to him and he talks to all of us at once, now he says, '. . . it's worth it.' " Pacific Telephone

St. Mary's Night Is Scheduled for Feb. 10

Gael alumni across the nation will gather February 10 to celebrate Universal Saint Mary's Night, it was announced today by Timothy J. Canty, alumni president.

Judge William J. McGuiness of Oakland has been appointed as national chairman for the affair.

THE TRADITIONAL event has been held annually since 1932, with the exception of the war years, and this year features reunion banquets in some 13 cities from coast to coast, including seven out-of-state locations: Chicago, Denver, Washington, D. C., New York City, Portland, Salt Lake City and Seattle.

BURGLARS RAIDED offices at Del Valle High School in Tice recently, but netted only about $25 in cash from the school safe. This picture shows some of the estimated $500 worth of damage done to school property by the burglars. The case is still being investigated by deputies from the sheriff's central substation. —Sun photo by Bob Rush.

Russian Is Night Course At College

Diablo Valley College will offer a Russian language course on Wednesday nights, 7 to 10 p.m. starting February 3 in Room 209 of the Library Building.

Offered on an 18-weeks semester basis, the course will include instruction once a week in Russian grammar and vocabulary through spoken and listening practice, translation and composition.

Some understanding of Russian culture is intended through selected readings of Russian literature and other material.

Fred W. Herrmann, formerly of the U.S. Army Language School at Monterey, now a member of the college foreign languages staff, will be the instructor.

Registration for the new course, not listed in the regular brochure, will take place January 23 from 7 to 11 a.m. for continuing and returning students and between 12 noon and 3 p.m. for new students.

Continuing and returning students, who are given priority in the matter of registering, should obtain an identification card in advance by contacting the office in the Library Building January 18 through 22 during the school day or at night.

The college does not charge a tuition fee. Successful completion of the Russian course can earn the student three units of college credit.

Cancer Group Offering Daily Help to Victims

What seems like an insurmountable problem for one person sometimes proves relatively easy for another to solve. That is why the County Branch of the American Cancer Society occasionally is able to "work wonders" in helping local cancer patients and their families to overcome some of the difficulties with which they are faced. W. E. Smikahl of Walnut Creek, county-wide service committee chairman, said since September 1, patients have received 900 surgical dressings and bed pads.

Patients from many sections of the county have used loan closet items, such as hospital beds, chairs and other sickroom equipment.

Transportation for patients to treatment centers has been arranged, through volunteers, at minimal cost to the society.

All these services are available only if there is no other way of obtaining them and on the recommendation of the attending physician, Smikahl said.

The service department of the county society also regularly helps local residents to find physicians when they need medical attention and do not know where to turn, Smikahl said.

"In addition to actual physical aids to families, the Contra Costa Cancer Society often can find alternative means of meeting a patient's needs. "We frequently find that the patient and his family are not always aware of all the resources at their command," he added.

Smikahl said anyone wishing information about the American Cancer Society's service program is invited to call at its Contra Costa County Branch office, at 2030 North Main Street in Walnut Creek, or to telephone the branch.

Mrs. Grant Is Chairman Of Den Mothers

the Meridian District, Boy Scouts of America, has a new chairman, Mrs. Renee Grant, coordinator for Pack 213 of the San Ramon Methodist Church.

The training meeting will be held at the Capwell's training room on Tuesday at 9:45-11:15 a.m.

The workshop is for all den mothers of the Meridian District which includes Orinda, Moraga, Lafayette, Walnut Creek, Alamo and Danville.

The February theme for Cub Scouting, "Golden Jubilee," celebrating the 50th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America, will be featured in games, crafts, stunts and other activities.

Highlight for each pack for February will be the traditional Blue and Gold banquet, so special attention will be given to centerpieces, place mats, hats, favors and name cards for this occasion.

Mrs. Grant has requested that any den mother attending bring along a sample of any materials she has in mind or has already made in order that all of the ladies can share their ideas on the topic.

Special attention will also be given to pre-opening activities and to den mothers' inspirational presentations.

Present pack leaders are urged to invite prospective den mothers to attend and learn the fun methods used in Cub Scouting.

TB Still Costly --Treatment, Rehabilitation

Tuberculosis cost Americans $725,000,000 last year, most of it in tax money, Dr. Charles J. Hart, president of the Contra Costa Tuberculosis and Health Association, said in a message urging citizen support of the Christmas Seal campaign.

"Huge sums of the taxpayers' money will continue to be spent on the treatment and rehabilitation of the people who have TB until an effective vaccine or drug is discovered that will protect us from the disease," he said.

"Although the campaign is officially over, late contributions are gratefully accepted. Part of every dollar contributed to the Contra Costa Tuberculosis and Health Association is spent to finance research on tuberculosis that may someday lead to an 'easy' means of protecting everyone against TB," Dr. Hart declared.

DRILLING COSTS
Drilling costs soar with depth, according to the National Automobile Club. An oil well 15,000-plus feet deep can cost 29 times more than a well in the 3000 foot range.

Golden Arrow Days to Please Bargain Hunters

Golden Arrow Days, running today through Saturday, in the Broadway Shopping Center, will point smart shoppers to the first real bargains of 1960.

This is the third consecutive year for the "Golden Arrow" which has proved a tremendous money saver for the public and a real good-will event for the merchants, according to George Webster, Broadway Merchants Association chairman.

"Only top quality items are stocked, and January is the time to buy them," he said.

He added, "This has developed into one of the most successful merchandising events ever held in Broadway, and is just the sort of thing to ring in the new year.

"Our merchants committee plans it to demonstrate anew that the best products and materials are always available in Broadway.

"We want the public to know that to follow the Golden Arrow has become a smart procedure in January.

"With the holiday rush over, we have time to offer even greater service, and this is another source of pride for us," he said.

CARE's $1 food package for needy families in Greece contains 4½ pounds of milk powder, to make 18 quarts of milk; 10 pounds flour and 10 pounds corn meal. Every dollar sent to the CARE Food Crusade, 444 Market Street, San Francisco, gives similar help to the needy in 15 countries.

Commuters Receiving $10 Cash When 'Shot'!

Each week, commuters living in our area are "shot" by Sun photographers, and when their pictures appear in the next edition, it's "commutin' " money.

Going to or from work, and trapped by an enterprising photographer, relax! — you as a "Lucky Commuter" can collect $10 in cash as a subscriber, or $5 in cash and a subscription to one of The Suns, as a non-subscriber.

This means your choice of The Walnut Creek Sun, Lafayette Sun, Orinda Sun or Pleasant Hill Sun will arrive for 52 weeks in a row —free!

Commuting can be a drag, man, and The Sun hopes that this small attention can relieve the situation for the "Lucky" ones in the central county!

Normally it's a bargain to receive so much entertainment in The Sun, geared to your neighborhood and local area, for only $3.75.

Watch for your picture in The Sun! It will show you on your way to work, or returning, and probably pre-occupied with the problems which assail most breadwinners!

Each week, congratulations go to Lucky Commuters on the four communities!

At present levels, the Strontium-90 in 2 glasses of milk consumed daily for 200 years will produce less radioactivity than that in a single chest x-ray.

Dangers of Gas Heaters Are Listed

With the tragic carbon monoxide death of a 12 year old boy in Contra Costa County, the County Health Department issued a warning about use of gas heaters and appliances.

The recent incident involved an unvented gas heater converted to butane.

Measurements showed 5000 parts per million of carbon monoxide and 1000 of butane released into the room whereas 50 and 10 parts per million respectively are maximum allowable levels at the burner itself.

TO PREVENT such incidents, Dr. W. A. Ketterer, assistant health officer, lists the following major precautions:

1. Never leave an unvented gas heater on overnight or when people are sleeping.

2. Fresh outside air should be let into the house when any type of gas combustion heater or stove is in use. This is important even with vented heaters and more important where the heater is "sealed in" on a slab floor, or has no outside air inlet and where the house is "sealed" with weather-stripping.

3. Don't change over from gas to butane without calling a utility, appliance or building department representative.

"EACH YEAR Contra Costans die accidentally from carbon monoxide," said Dr. Ketterer.

"Many more live but are treated for acute carbon monoxide poisoning. Some undoubtedly suffer from chronic exposure and may never be diagnosed.

Approved appliances, inspected, installed or repaired by competent persons, will free homes from needless suffering and death."

Poodles Come, Poodles Go-- Plenty Fast!

The loss of their toy poodle, "Toni" was a blow to Mr. and Mrs. Mehffey of Temple Drive, Martinez, but the recovery of Toni through The Sun's classified columns made their holidays joyous.

On the other hand, Mrs. Charles Osborne of 120 Paulson Lane, Walnut Creek, used the Sun's classified to sell her miniature poodle puppies, and she got fast results, too.

Capwell's Offers Free Knit Course

Mrs. Dorothy Fowler, Capwell's-Walnut Creek regular knitting instructor, will conduct a knitting school for beginners in a series of six lessons held on consecutive Thursday mornings, which began recently and continues through February 11.

There is no charge for the series of instruction to be held in Capwell's-Walnut Creek training rooms on the second floor, from 10 to 11:30 a.m.

THOSE WISHING to enroll in the class may sign up in Cap-students.

Students will be taught how to read a knitting book, and will be given instruction on types of yarns. Patterns adaptable to certain garments will be given to well's-Walnut Creek Art and Needlework department now.

"AFTER THE first three basic stitches are mastered," Mrs. Fowler said, "a certain amount of homework will be given, and, toward the end of the series, students will have learned the stocking and scarf knit, and how to start to knit a dress and a sweater."

Arthur Robson Will Head Local March of Dimes

The appointment of Arthur Robson, local attorney, as chairman of the 1960 New March of Dimes in the Lafayette area was announced by county chairman Joe De Rosa today.

In accepting the appointment, Robson said that the big job of the 1960 New March of Dimes is to inform the people of two major facts.

FIRST, THAT POLIO is not yet licked and secondly, that the National Foundation's new attack on birth defects and arthritis, as well as its continuing fight against polio, is as important to the American people as was the 20-year battle to conquer polio and provide aid to its victims.

Robson is president of the Lafayette Junior Chamber of Commerce, a member of the board of directors of the American Red Cross and a Kiwanian.

In addition to practicing law, Robson teaches at St. Mary's College. An enthusiastic rugby player, he is official coach of rugby at the school.

Numbers of Pupils Triple In 10 Years

School population in three of Contra Costa County's most rapidly expanding areas tripled in the past decade, and the total enrollment for the county nearly doubled.

County Superintendent Floyd Marchus reported highest growth between 1950 and 1960 occurred in the area of San Ramon Valley Union High School District.

Enrollment there in all grades, kindergarten through high school, rose from 1009 to 3831, or 280 per cent.

Similar growth was experienced in Mt. Diablo Unified District and the area of Acalanes Union High School District.

Mt. Diablo's increase was 238 per cent—up from 8151 to 27,538.

In the Acalanes area the total of elementary and high school attendance grew from 5260 to 16,045, or 205 per cent.

All three areas were also among the four most rapid growing in the decade of 1940 to 1950 but were surpassed by Richmond Union High School area with a phenomenal gain of 342 per cent, representing an increase from 7341 to 32,413 in all grades.

From this high, however, Richmond area growth dropped off to 18 per cent between 1950 and 1960. Enrolled in all grades at present are 38,257.

Pittsburg Unified District has moved up to a place among the four most rapidly growing areas, said Marchus. The enrollment increased from 2828 to 5504, or 95 per cent, in the 10-year period.

Total enrollment of students in grades kindergarten through high school increased 204 per cent between 1940 and 1950—from 19,528 to 59,387—and 77 per cent between 1950 and the present, with 105,249.

January 1 became generally accepted as New Year's Day in the 1500's when the Gregorian calendar was introduced, according to World Book Encyclopedia. But the new year still begins on March 21 in Iran. And the Hindus have a different New Year's Day for each of their many religious groups.

Petroleum accounted for 57 per cent of the total value of all minerals produced in the United States during 1958, reports the National Automobile Club.

Law Enforcement Courses Offered For Part-Timers

The second series of three-unit courses in the new Law Enforcement major at Diablo Valley College will be given at night in the part-time students' program starting the week of February 1.

Registration will be earlier on January 23, during the day, on a schedule announced by Charles E. Grant, coordinator of police training.

The new major is designed for those interested in preparing for employment in law enforcement work and for peace officers already regularly employed.

THE PROGRAM consists of 26 units of study obtainable at the rate of six units per semester in night classes taught by qualified, ranking peace officers.

By augmenting the 26 units with 34 others required for graduation, students may qualify for the Associate in Arts degree.

Employed officers who might not be interested in the degree can earn a certificate of achievement on completing the 26 units satisfactorily.

Day students will take graduation-required subjects in the college day program and the law enforcement courses at night, each on one night a week, 7 to 10 p.m.

NEXT SEMESTER, a Monday night class in police records and identification will be taught by Criminalist H. M. Reeves of the Richmond Police Department and Inspector Richard Young, Berkeley police officer.

A second class in crime prevention and correction will meet Thursday nights with Lieut. Robert Bahl, Concord Police Department, as instructor.

New students who have never attended the college will register between noon and 3 p.m. in the Student Activities Building on January 23.

Those who are continuing as ing after a lapse of time, will register in the morning of January 23, 7 to 11 a.m.

Both continuing and returning students should pick up an identification card at the college prior to registering. These will be available at the main counter in the Library Building at night during the period January 18-22.

Graduates' Records Are Key To District's Success

"In industry we gauge the success of an activity by the quality of the product.

"While the application of this type of measure is a little tougher when you're dealing with human beings, a history of graduates of the Acalanes District indicates that the majority of the students exposed to our local high schools have found laudable degrees of achievement," said Dr. Ralph Hall, Acalanes Union High School District trustee since 1947, entomologist with the United States Government and longtime resident of Orinda.

"PERHAPS THE BEST indication," Hall pointed out, "is the actual record of work done by Acalanes district graduates at local colleges and universities and schools of higher learning throughout the nation."

"For instance," Hall continued, "local high school graduates at Stanford are among the top per cent academically; district graduates at Cal have and are maintaining better-than-average grades.

"The list of district graduates include everything — a Rhodes scholar, successful doctors, engineers, lawyers, teachers and valued trade and commercial industrial workers."

"The general record of the more than 5000 young people who have graduated from our high schools since the district's inception provides substantial evidence that their local educational needs were basically well served," Dr. Hall declared.

EBMUD Has New Opening

Candidates are being sought by the East Bay Municipal Utility District to fill an engineering vacancy soon to occur due to retirement, according to William J. Stephens, personnel manager.

An associate electrical engineer will be selected on the basis of a civil service examination to be given January 21 to eligible candidates who file application before Monday.

To be eligible, applicants must have a bachelor's degree in an engineering curriculum accredited by the Engineers' Council for Professional Development or a California Engineer-in-Training certificate.
